

Viet Cong Activity Reported Reduced; Await Rusk's Visit

American Troops Plagued by Series of Combat Accidents

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong activity continued on a reduced scale today. Mishaps dogged American forces, but the South Vietnamese reported some successes.

Government militiamen killed 40 Communists in beating off an attack on an outpost near the provincial capital of Quang Ngai, 330 miles northeast of Saigon, scene of repeated Communist thrusts.

Casualties among the 100 defenders were reported light.

Two U.S. planes — a two-engine C-23 flare ship and an Air Force single-seat Skyraider — collided in the air on an operation in support of Korean ground troops 15 miles northwest of Qui Nhon on the central coast. All seven men on board were killed.

Other Mishaps

The Skyraider crashed into the bigger plane from underneath after pulling out of a strike, a spokesman said.

Other mishaps plagued the U.S. Marines in the Da Nang area, resulting in U.S. and Vietnamese casualties.

On the diplomatic front, Saigon awaited with rising interest the arrival Saturday of U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Ambassador W. Averell Harriman. It was assumed they would try to still misgivings in the South Vietnamese government about President Johnson's peace efforts.

In the Da Nang area, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, two U.S. Marine jets called in by a forward air controller sank four sampans manned by government militiamen in the Thin Yen River, 20 miles southwest of Da Nang, after being told they were carrying Viet Cong.

Civilians Killed

Four civilians on the river bank were killed and 16 civilians and five militiamen were wounded. The Marines accepted full responsibility for the mistake, a spokesman said.

Sixteen Marines were injured, two seriously, when a mortar exploded during a training class at the Chu Lai beachhead 53 miles down the coast.

But nearby a Marine rifle patrol killed at least four Viet Cong and seized four 60MM mortars with shells in overruning Viet Cong mortar positions 150 yards from the Leathernecks' forward lines. The casualties raised the Communist toll after four days of Operation Mallard to 18 dead. The Marines also captured 16½ tons of rice.

Viet Cong gunners forced down a Marine helicopter on a flight from Tam Ky to Da Nang.

Weaver Likely To Win Easy Senate Okay

Johnson Named First Negro in Cabinet Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert C. Weaver appears likely to have an easier task winning Senate approval as the first Negro member of the Cabinet than he did in 1961 as housing administrator.

President Johnson announced Thursday he would nominate Weaver as Secretary of Housing and Urban Development. Weaver,

Weaver

58, has been acting head of the new department since its formal creation in November. As administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, he has directed the agencies now under the new Cabinet department.

Johnson said he would name Robert C. Wood, 42, chairman of the political science department at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, as undersecretary of the new department. Wood headed a task force that advised Johnson on its organization and functions.

Before Senate

"I am very proud of this team," Johnson said. The nominations were scheduled to go to the Senate today.

The new department — the 11th in the Cabinet — has under its wing the Federal Housing Administration, the Public Housing Administration, the Urban Renewal Administration and the Community Facilities Administration.

Johnson said no decision has been made on a reported proposal by Wood's task force to move the community action part of the administration's antipoverty program from the

March of Dimes Poster Greet President

With 'Howdy, Partner'

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Howdy, Partner," was the greeting President Johnson received Thursday from the 1966 March of Dimes poster girl.

Lori Wagner of West Milwaukee called on Johnson to promote the annual fund-raising drive.

Lori, a victim since birth of a serious spinal defect, entered the President's office on crutches and leg braces and greeted the President.

The President then showed Lori two of his Beagle pups. She in turn, amused Johnson by singing "The Eyes of Texas."

Johnson Predicts Little Opposition to Tax Plan

Industry Expresses Displeasure

NEW YORK (AP) — The world's two biggest corporations, General Motors and American Telephone & Telegraph, expressed displeasure today with President Johnson's proposal to restore excise taxes on automobiles and telephone service.

GM said restoration would be "unfortunate." AT&T said it "regretted" the President's proposals but recognized the nation's need for additional revenues.

Much of the business community, however, appeared to accept the tax proposals set forth in the President's State of the Union address Wednesday night.

Specific Recommendations

Specifically, the President recommended:

— Restoration of $1.2 billion in auto and telephone service excise taxes that were eliminated effective Jan. 1.

— A graduated personal income withholding tax on pay checks in place of the present flat rate. It would yield $400 million to the government sooner than under the present system.

— Advance payment of corporate net income taxes to yield $3.2 billion more quickly than the present system.

The personal and corporate income tax proposals do not represent tax increases. Rather, they represent what amounts to prepayment of taxes on income to be received during a calendar year. Some states use the prepayment method on their corporate levies.

GM Comment

James M. Roche, president of General Motors Corp., termed the proposal to restore the level of auto excise taxes "very unfortunate."

But Henry Ford II, chairman of the Ford Motor Co., said he interpreted the President's recommendation as a return to the 7 per cent excise tax level from the present 6 per cent level that became effective with the new year.

Ford indicated he was not opposed to such a step.

But Roche said: "I will be badly disappointed if it is restored. After all the effort that went into passing the legislation in 1965, to have it washed out overnight would be unfortunate for all concerned."

A T & T Statement

Officials of Chrysler Corp. and American Motors Corp. declined immediate comment.

A spokesman for American Telephone & Telegraph Co. said the firm regretted the President's proposals, but added: "It should be pointed out that telephone service would be the only utility so taxed. However, we fully recognize our country's needs for added revenues at this critical time and some of the problems involved in recommending appropriate legislation."

The spokesman said the excise tax restoration, if carried out, would force the company to reassess its plans for 1966.

Inoculate to Prevent Epidemic

Death Toll Climbs Steadily In Worst Flood in Rio History

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — The death toll in the Rio de Janeiro disaster climbed to 355 today and many more bodies were believed buried in the mud and debris left in the wake of the worst rains in the city's 400-year history.

A total of 185 deaths was confirmed in the city and another 170 in Rio de Janeiro state, including 100 in the mountain resort of Petropolis, 26 miles north of the city.

Many more were feared dead in isolated areas.

Doctors and attendants at the city morgue worked around the clock trying to identify bodies brought in.

Most Suffocated

"Most were suffocated in landslides," said Dr. Ivan Ferreira. "Many had broken spines and legs."

"The children were the hardest hit. The little ones drowned in as little as a few centimeters of water. Others were unable to stand even minor slides and were dragged away."

Most of the dead came from the Favela shantytowns on Rio's hillsides. They were brought in by the truckload. Hampered by frequent power failures, doctors performed autopsies on each body.

Many families did not have the money to buy coffins or pay for burial. Radio and television

Indian Official Quits Under Nanda Rule

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A member of caretaker Prime Minister Gulzari Lal Nanda's Cabinet resigned today, reportedly objecting to Nanda's support of the Pakistan agreement. Mahavi Tyagi, minister of rehabilitation and a veteran Indian politician, gave no reason for quitting.

But it has been reported Tyagi differed with Nanda because the prime minister announced immediately after succeeding the late Lal Bahadur Shastri Tuesday that India will honor the Pakistan declaration made in Tashkent, U.S.S.R.

Shastri signed the declaration Monday with President Ayub Khan of Pakistan pledging the two countries to work for peace in South Asia. The next day Shastri died in the Soviet central Asian city and Nanda succeeded him temporarily. India's ruling Congress party will pick the next prime minister formally Wednesday.

stations broadcast frequent appeals to undertakers for donations of coffins and asked cemetery officials to waive burial fees for the poor.

Authorities estimated at least 4,000 were homeless in the city and another 10,000 in the state.

An undetermined number of persons was killed Thursday when a huge mud slide roared off a hillside in Rio, buried two houses, two trucks and four floors of a seven-story apartment house.

Eight bodies were recovered, but many more were believed buried.

The rains, which started Monday, tapered off to a drizzle during the night.

A massive inoculation campaign was under way to prevent epidemics.

Nearly 50 U.S. Peace Corps volunteers were helping in rescue work. Warren Fuller, Peace Corps director in Brazil, said all of the volunteers were safe and in good health.

The U.S. Embassy said more than 60 tons of foodstuffs were distributed.

President Says Excise Is Preferred

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says he detects "a minimum of opposition" to his proposal to restore excise taxes on cars and phone bills.

"I think most of the legislators would prefer receiving revenues in this form than revenues in new taxes on corporations and individuals," Johnson told a news conference at the White House Thursday.

Amid a burst of criticism from congressmen over his tax proposals announced in Wednesday night's State of the Union message, Johnson said he had sounded out sentiment in advance and "I did not detect overwhelming resistance to it."

He said he believed that "most of the people are patriotic" and would be willing to give up reductions in the taxes, which took effect Jan. 1, to finance additional military costs stemming from the Viet Nam war.

Other Topics

In other major topics covered at the same conference, Johnson said:

— He will appoint Robert C. Weaver as secretary of the new Department of Housing and Urban Development and Robert C. Wood as undersecretary. Weaver would be the first Negro member of the Cabinet.

— "The number of incidents" in Viet Nam has "dropped off some." But he added: "I don't say there is any connection with that and our peace moves."

U.S. envoys will continue to visit foreign capitals in the search for peace, he said.

— He is "disturbed" that the New York City transit strike lasted so long and "I am equally concerned by the cost of the settlement," which "violates our national guideposts for non-inflationary increases."

— Reaction to the State of the Union message was "very good" and "I was very pleased with it."

— He feels "fine" three months after his gall bladder operation.

— He has no foreign travel plans now.

Commercial Fishermen May Not Take Trout

From Lake Michigan

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois Conservation Department announced Thursday that lake trout may not be taken from Lake Michigan by commercial fishermen.

The department said the action was taken jointly with Wisconsin, Michigan and Indiana.

Lake trout, once the waters' most important commercial fish, was almost exterminated by the sea lamprey. The department said methods have been found to control the lamprey, and the lake is now being stocked with millions of trout.

Staked Out in Firestone Home

Police Kill Pair in Kidnap Attempt

By BOB THOMAS

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Pistols raised, two men crashed into the home of Leonard K. Firestone Thursday night in an apparent attempt to kidnap the wealthy industrialist. Staked-out police killed both with shotgun blasts.

Cal Bailey, 40, was killed instantly as he attempted to rush into the living room of the palatial home. George Scalia, 28, fell wounded on the threshold and died three hours later in the prison ward of General Hospital. They held three guns, but never got a chance to fire a shot.

Police said the men may have planned to ask $2 million in ransom.

Undercover Work

The deaths ended three weeks of police undercover work, during which the proposed kidnapping was tipped by an undisclosed source.

Firestone, 58, was warned to leave the city.

This has been a very distressing and upsetting thing to have gone through," said the president of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. of Calif. at the home of a friend in San Francisco Thursday night. He complimented the police for a thorough, intelligent, masterful job.

Capt. John E. Hankin, chief of Beverly Hills detectives, told this sequence of events.

First hint of the kidnap came three weeks ago in connection with a burglary that took place in the jurisdiction of the Los Angeles police. Ten days ago, the tipster disclosed that the intended victim was Firestone, the handsome son of rubber empire founder Harvey S. Firestone.

"I was very much disturbed and concerned," said the industrialist. "I just made up my mind that I would try to work with the police as best I could."

Hankins advised him to leave his home on Alpine Drive, a tree-shaded street where millionaires live amid movie stars. Police officers moved in, along with a policeman who posed as a domestic to answer the door and phone.

Days passed uneventfully. No unusual phone calls came, no suspicious cars drove by. The identity of the two suspects was known, and they were known to have long records of burglary, robbery and robbery with violence. All attempts to locate them for surveillance failed.

At 6 o'clock Thursday evening the telephone rang. The policeman Barbara Ezell, told the male caller that Mr. Firestone could not come to the telephone.

The caller hung up.

At 6:20 a black 1965 Ford drove into the semicircular driveway and stopped in front of the door. Policewoman Ezell gazed through the peephole and saw two large men emerge from the car. One wore a Halloween mask over his face and carried a gun in one hand and a sack containing adhesive tape in the other. He was later identified as Bailey.

Surgical Gloves

Scalia wore a hat pulled down on his face and carried a gun in each hand. Both men wore surgical gloves.

The doorbell rang and Miss Ezell asked, "Who's there?"

"Parcel post, ma'am," came the reply.

Behind Miss Ezell stood three veteran Beverly Hills policemen. Lt. B. L. Cork, Sgt. Jack Egger and Det. Jack Mourning.

They were armed with two shotguns and a pistol.

Egger motioned Miss Ezell

Teens Discuss Pros, Cons Of Girls 'Telephoning' Boys

Questions, Answers

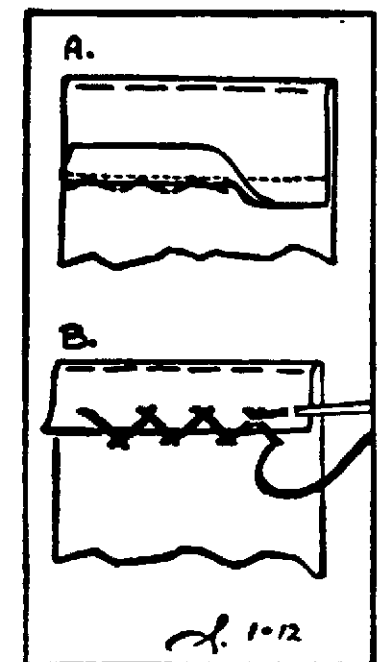

Q. If wearing high heels, I always have to trim the front of a dress more than the back when measuring the hem. Is this because patterns are cut for low heels? Which should I wear? — Mrs. R.G.K.

A. Patterns are not cut for heel height. They are made from standard measurements and a perfect figure. When measuring a hem, always wear the heels that will be worn with the finished product. Your problem may be that with high heels you tilt forward a little and don't stand perfectly straight.

Q. What are a tailor's hem and a catch-stitch hem? — Miss T. P.

A. A tailor's hem is used on bulky or very firm fabric that do not ravel. To make this hem (figure A), stitch a inch from the edge. Then slip-stitch the underside of the hem to the garment. If you wish, you can pink the edge before stitching. A catch-stitch hem is usually used on lined tailored clothes such as coats and jackets. To make this hem (figure B), you must work from left to right, catching one thread in the hem and then one in the garment.

Doctor Says Post Nasal Drip Can be Corrected

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D., though as a general thing it is a use in trying to cure what is than simple cause and effect. commonly called post nasal drip? Have you any sugges- another, and together the total discomfort is greater than that from the ailments singly.

Post nasal drip is a real enough condition. The moist that impedes the airways will secretions of the nose are cause the reverse drip. On a supposed to drain forward, temporary basis, a cold does it.

Dr. Molner

Allergy, due to pollen or other materials, should not be forgotten, especially if the post nasal drip is seasonal. Sometimes continuing cases may be allergic in nature, too, from dust molds, animal danders.

Nose drops or sprays may shrink the membranes temporarily, but they do not attack the cause. To identify polyps or other such factors, by all means consult a nose and throat specialist.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a 15-year-old girl and my hair is about down to the middle of my back. I would like it to be longer but it seems to have stopped growing. Is it true that hair stops at a certain length for each individual? — M. P.

That is essentially correct. At about 10 inches, the rate of growth declines about 50 per cent. However, there are great variations from person to person. The fastest rate of growth in women is between the ages of 15 and 25, so yours in all probability will grow still longer if you let it.

Your Wisconsin Income Tax

State Residents Entitled to $10 Deduction for Each of Dependents

By NORMAN E. SCHLEY For THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Exemptions — Dependents Under Wisconsin's new simplified income tax law, exemptions are now defined by the federal law and any dependent that qualifies on the U.S. return may be claimed on the state form. To claim exemptions it is not only necessary to fill out the "Exemptions" lines 2a through 4 on page one of the U.S. form (when using the regular form 1) but Part I "Exemptions" on page 2 of the state form as well. When using their state short form 1A, list your age, your wife's (or husband's) age if married and the names of all dependents on line 7.

The exemptions on the federal form constitute a direct reduction of $600 per exemption from taxable income. On the state form, however, the exemptions constitute a reduction in the amount of tax due. On this basis Wisconsin taxpayers and dependents are entitled to personal exemptions of $10 each. The deduction is increased to $15 for those taxpayers who have reached age 65 by December 31, 1965. Those unmarried individuals who maintain a household and support one or more persons who are qualified dependents may deduct an additional $10.

Always Exemption You are always entitled to an exemption and an additional exemption is allowed for your wife (or husband) if you are married. You are also entitled to exemptions for children and other dependents as limited by federal law. Children living with you during 1965 who are under 19 years of age or who are students qualify as dependents. When the child earned more than $600 he should file his own return, reporting the income and claiming his exemption. In many cases the filing of this return may involve a welcome refund. Where your child is under 19 or is a student and earns in excess of $600, you may also claim him as your dependent if you provided more than one half of his support even though he files his own return. Exemptions for dependents includes not only children but other individuals related to you if you provided more than the aforementioned "one half" of their support. By consulting the fine instruction sheet provided by the Internal Revenue Service you will note the list of relatives that qualify includes parents, grandparents, brothers, sisters, brothers-in-law, sisters-in-law, as well as uncles, aunts, nephews and nieces, the latter if related by blood.

Student's Earnings Q. My son, a student, earned $1,000 and filed his own return. May I claim him?

A. You may claim him as a dependent only if you furnished over half his support.

Q. Must I recognize the fine scholarship my son received in determining whether or not I contributed more than half of his support?

A. No. Q. Our 7-year-old boy died in April and a new baby was born in December. May they be claimed as dependents?

A. Yes—list them and deduct $10 for each on the state return. Q. We plan on adopting David who lived with us all last year. Is he a dependent?

A. Only if he was placed with you by an authorized agency for legal adoption.

Q. I am blind and past 65. What is my state exemption?

A. Your exemption is $15—while the federal law grants additional exemption for blindness, there is no similar state allowance.

Q. My sister and I jointly support our aged mother—may we both claim her as a dependent?

A. No. Where two or more qualified individuals furnish more than one-half the support of a dependent and each contribute over 10 per cent of the individual's support, file Form 2120 Multiple Support Declaration. As only one person is entitled to the exemption in any one year, you might claim the exemption this year and your sister next year.

Tax Payments in Village Ahead Of 1965 Rate

LITTLE CHUTE — Tax payments for the first 12 days of the year are running slightly ahead of the payment rate in 1965. Increased payments recorded late in 1965 for income tax purposes accounts for some of the difference, according to Gerald Locy, clerk-treasurer.

To date 424 persons have paid $104,560 in real estate taxes and $3,699 in personal property taxes while in the same period last year 368 paid $87,320 in real estate taxes and $3,350 in personal property taxes.

College Avenue Contract to Manitowoc Firm

The State Highway Commission has awarded a $107,409 contract for improvement of a quarter mile of the west end of W. College Avenue in Appleton to Vinton Construction Co., Manitowoc.

The council authorized the state to award the contract last week.

Total cost of the project, including engineering costs, is $121,575. The city's share will be $22,100. The state will pay the other $99,475.

Work on the project is expected to start in the spring.

Brillion Defines 340-Acre Site For University

City Would Donate, Annex Tract if State Selects It

BRILLION — A 340-acre site north of here has been offered by the city as its choice for the planned four-year northeastern Wisconsin university.

If the city is selected for the proposed new school, the tract, costing about $200,000, will be annexed.

The site is on a section of high rising ground which serves to define what probably was the pre-historic edge of the greater Fox River Valley. Lights from many of the Fox Cities can be seen from the site at night.

It is bounded on three sides by town roads. A proposed relocation of U. S. 10 would be the other boundary.

A decision to take options on the land was reached at a special city council meeting, Wednesday night. Community leaders have refused to be discouraged by site criteria calling for the school to be located in a "densely populated area."

The consensus was that this would have eliminated Brillion from contention, but local leaders have not given up hope. They point to advantages of geographic location and being a center of population.

Small Communities

A great concentration of small communities and high schools, and lake shore area cities to the east and south of Brillion, not to mention a prosperous and populous agricultural area are being ignored in a shift to the north and west of the counties comprising the original area intended to be served. Brillion officials contend. Brillion is preparing statistical evidence of the fact, and graphing demonstrations to support their conviction that the city offers the site most convenient to the greatest number of people.

Brillion is planning to present this evidence to committee members as well as state legislators, the press, civic leaders, municipal government officials and the public as quickly as it can expedite the distribution.

Legislators Urge Gasoline Tax Hike

Needed for Highway Program, Two Tell C of C Executives

A one-cent increase in gasoline taxes to finance an accelerated highway construction program was proposed by two state legislators from different sides of the political fence this morning.

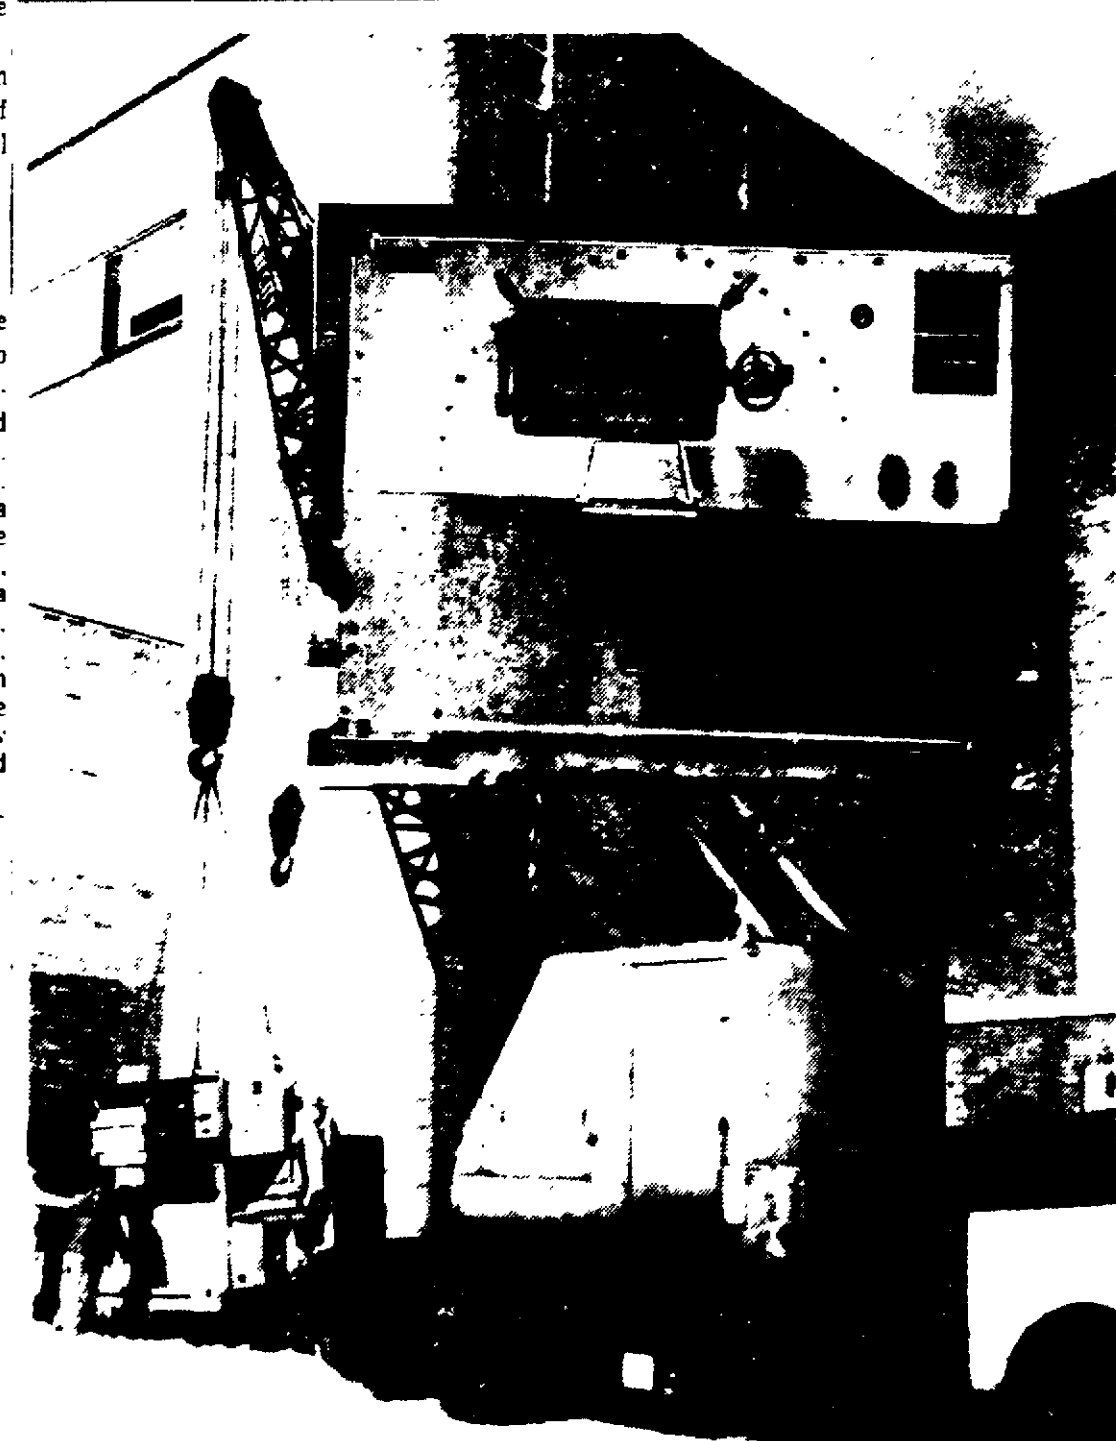

Assemblyman David Obey (D-Wausau) and State Sen. Walter Hollander (R-Rosendale) pointed out the immediate need for more highway funds at the winter conference of the Wisconsin Chamber of Commerce Executives in the Conway Motor Hotel.

Obey said the increase would be "politically wise and economically prudent," he noted that high priority in the state

False Claims for Jobless Pay Bring Two Fines of $25

Robert N. Ballou Jr., 33, 1612 Rynders St., was fined $25 and costs or 15 days in jail on each of two counts of making false statements or representation to obtain unemployment benefits.

The charges, made Aug. 19, 1964, followed investigation by representatives of the State Industrial Commission. Ballou earlier had pleaded innocent but changed his plea to no contest Wednesday in the court of County Judge Raymond P. Dohr. An affidavit of prejudice had been filed against County Judge Gustave J. Keller.

Committee Delays Action On Bid for Tavern License

Legal Papers Show Interest Of Mrs. Gentile

Mrs. Beverly (Nicholas) Gentile, 8 Embrey Court, has a financial interest in a proposed restaurant-cocktail lounge venture of Vincent J. Maniaci, according to a statement on file at the Outagamie County Register of Deeds office.

In a sales agreement signed by Vince and May Maniaci, 1718 S. Peabody St., and Beverly Gentile — the three have entered into an agreement with Modern Fixtures, Inc., Milwaukee, to purchase $20,970 worth of fixtures for the building at 512 W. College Ave.

The general statement installment sale and security agreement, also filed with the Secretary of State's office at Madison, shows the agreement was signed at Milwaukee on Dec. 28, 1965.

No Council Action

Oscar J. Plotkin, 422 N. Fifth St., Milwaukee, was listed as president of Modern Fixtures, the name of the firm listed on the building plans for the new supper club on file at the building inspector's office.

The council has not acted on Maniaci's tavern license application.

Under terms of the agreement, Mrs. Gentile would be involved in the venture as a part-owner of the fixtures and furnishings to be obtained from the Milwaukee firm.

The building, now vacant, is owned by Les H. Chudacoff. The agreement says that in the event of any default, Modern Fixtures, Inc. may remove any fixtures sold by the conditional sales agreement.

Assignment of Lease

The financial statement shows that Vince and May Maniaci and Beverly Gentile paid $2,000 down on the fixtures.

The trio agrees that the lease can be automatically assigned to Modern Fixtures, Inc., "or

Mrs. Stillings Enters Contest For City Clerk

Former 7th Ward Alderwoman Third To Seek Position

Nomination papers are being circulated for city clerk by Mrs. Dorothy Stillings, The Post-Crescent learned Thursday.

Mrs. Stillings, 1323 Oakcrest Court, former alderwoman of the Seventh Ward, said she had been asked by friends to seek the post now held by Elden Broehm. She was a member of the council for 13 years before being defeated by John M. MacDonald last spring.

Others circulating papers for city clerk are Broehm, who has been clerk since 1955, and Roger LaBerge, city sealer and former alderman.

Mrs. Stillings, who is married and has two sons, said the office of city clerk should be one of co-operation and would be a challenge.

Mrs. Stillings said she obtained her nomination papers elsewhere than from the city clerk's office.

Gehring By-Passed

Outagamie Democrats Miffed at Appointment

BY DAVE NOWAK
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The failure of Sen. Gaylord Nelson to have Ralph Gehring, Shiocton, reappointed to the federal government's Agricultural and Stabilization Committee for Wisconsin has apparently ruffled Outagamie County Democrats.

At their meeting Thursday night in Appleton, the Democrats passed a resolution praising Gehring for his record and contribution to the party. The resolution, submitted by Lester Balliet, immediate past county chairman, called on Wisconsin's Democratic delegation in Washington to restore Gehring to the ASCS.

Last week, Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman announced the appointment of Martin Thorson, Jola, and William Tschudy, Monroe, to the committee. Displaced were Gehring and John Hansen of Franksville, Racine County.

Power Shift

Informed Democrats reported the two appointments were intended to show the party that patronage power has shifted from Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, former state party chairman, to Nelson.

Gehring was known as a Lucey supporter. Leland Mulder of LaCrosse County was reappointed to the committee as chairman.

Since Mulder is regarded as a friend of Nelson, the incident is being interpreted by Democrats as another sign of the intra-party struggle between Lucey and Nelson.

Balliet said he is "real disappointed with Nelson" and

Lawyers Defend Application, Hit Newspaper

No action was taken by the city's welfare - ordinance committee Thursday night on the request of former Milwaukeean Vincent J. Maniaci for a tavern (beer and liquor) license.

The committee voted unanimously to hold the matter in abeyance after two attorneys, one from Appleton and the other Milwaukee, attacked The Post-Crescent and defended the license application and character of Maniaci.

During the meeting, held in a crowded second floor conference room at the city hall, there were these developments:

Recommends Denial

—Police Chief Earl O. Wolff filed his written recommendation that Maniaci's license request be denied, based on his "close association" here with a Nicholas S. Gentile (alias Nick Gentile) and the applicant's apparent financial background. Gentile has a long record.

—Mark Catlin and Max Goldsmith, Maniaci's attorneys, criticized a recent resolution signed by 13 aldermen who called for committee denial of the license application, demanded to know what their reasons were for taking such action, and said Gentile was not connected with the restaurant-cocktail lounge proposed for College Avenue.

—City Atty. Frederick E. Froehlich said he had never seen the resolution which was submitted at the last regular council meeting and was on the committee's printed agenda.

—Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th) made the motion, seconded by Ald. Richard Huisman (1st) that the resolution asking for denial and the license application be held in abeyance until the site checked by the building and health inspectors and all reports are in.

Will Ask Questions

—Ald. Ray Pointer (14th) served notice he would ask questions and consider the character and associations of any and all license applicants, declaring: "... The character and morals of this community should continue to stay on the straight line as is now."

After the committee decided to withhold action the question remained whether Maniaci would apply for a building permit and proceed with installation of equipment and furnishings, so the place could be inspected, without assurance that

YGOP Plans Lincoln Day Festivities

Outagamie County Young Republicans met at the Conway Hotel Thursday night to plan for the Lincoln Day celebration.

A committee meeting will be Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lorenz to complete plans for it. Lorenz is committee chairman.

Thursday's meeting featured Ald. Jack MacDonald (Appleton 7th) who urged greater citizen participation and interest in local government. He said persons should attend council meetings to obtain a full view of city government in operation.

Appleton Alderman Worried

Steps Urged to Prevent Strip-Teasers in City

A southside alderman inquired taxi cabs during the night to 5 Thursday night what legal steps could be taken to prevent strip-tease entertainers from appearing in Appleton.

"I know we have a lot of go-go girls here now," Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th) told the welfare-ordinance committee at the city hall.

"However, it is my understanding a stripper is operating outside of town now and I would like to know what this committee should do to halt this type of thing from coming into Appleton," Thompson said.

Covered by Ordinance

He said he thought it would be up to the police chief or city attorney.

Ald. Norman Boyer (20th) said strippers were covered by ordinance and it would be a matter of enforcement — nothing for the committee to become involved in.

There is a dandy in town right now," was the comment of Ald. Richard Huisman (1st).

The three aldermen are members of the committee.

Taxi Cab Law

Also discussed briefly by Joseph Tschudy, 418 Harrison St. committee members was an ordinance which, they said, Jan. 1, and the fourth car was prohibited women from driving roundhouse parking lot Jan. 7.

Educators Debate Viet Nam

A Lawrence University professor defended U. S. policy in Viet Nam as necessary to contain the Communist Chinese threat and maintain an equilibrium of power Thursday night.

At the same time, U. S. withdrawal from Viet Nam was advocated by a University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center instructor.

Dr. Harold Schneider, chairman of the Lawrence anthropology department, and Jerrold County Democratic party.

Hurt Ourselves

In a sometimes heated discussion, Schneider said if the U. S. withdraws from Viet Nam, "we will hurt ourselves irreparably. If we stick it out, at least we will be assured of a draw." He added that "if the U. S. loses in Viet Nam, we will lose our position throughout the world."

Schneider said the Communist Chinese are a "threat to U. S. power," adding that the U. S. "has a position in the Far East to protect," giving Okinawa and several other islands as examples.

Asked why India and Pakistan don't support the U. S. in Viet Nam since they are so close to China, Schneider said "The threat is to the U. S., not them. The British don't support our policy either because they don't see the situation as a threat to them. "We are lucky if we can get anyone to support us."

Chinese Threat

Aranson disagreed with Schneider's concept of the Chinese threat.

Rosner was not present for the trial before County Judge Gustave J. Keller Thursday. Arrests on the eight counts were made at various times in July, August, September and November.

Fines of $25 each were assessed on two counts of failing to have current registration on a tractor, failure to transfer title, no registration on a trailer and using expired license plates. Judge Keller fined Rosner $60 and costs after finding him guilty of operating in excess of authority.

Testimony was heard from four members of the state patrol.

Tusler, who was president of Tusler Motor Co. died Dec. 2, 1963 at the age of 57.

Extra Navigational Aid

Approach Light Bids Given to Airport Board

In response to requests by the two airlines using the new Outagamie County Airports — North Central and Air Wisconsin — the county board's airport committee has received bids on runway approach lights.

The committee is expected to meet before the February board meeting to consider bids from Electronic Light Co., Inc. and Sylvia Electric Co., and to make a purchase recommendation to the board which is expected to give its approval.

The approach lights would extend from both ends of the 5,200-foot runway.

North Central officials have said the lights would be helpful to their pilots, especially since the airline has begun providing only Convair flights into the airport. Since Convairs land at much faster speeds than the old DCs, approach lights would provide an extra navigational aid and a safety factor which would influence pilots to land in marginal weather conditions.

The flashing lights would be spaced so that they would be visible approximately 400 feet beyond the ends of the runway.

The lights are not required by the Federal Aviation Agency but their absence could mean "fly-overs" by North Central when weather conditions are considered marginal. The runways already are lit by high intensity lights.

City, Group Both Benefit From Growth

John B. Torinus Speaks at C of C Fete at New London

NEW LONDON — The Chamber of Commerce will grow if its program is designed for the entire community and not to serve a few members. John B. Torinus, editor of The Post-Crescent, said at the annual Chamber of Commerce meeting.

"A chamber gets members, dues and publicity by doing something," Torinus said. "People who live in an area most of their lives aren't aware of the growth taking place in their area."

Torinus, a member of the Green Bay Packers' board of directors, cited the building of Lambeau Stadium as an example. The directors were worried that the 32,000 seating capacity would not be reached when they approved the construction. Then with the expansion to 50,000 seats we again thought it might be too large, he added.

Retain Individuality

Green Bay completely dominated its area, Torinus said, in contrast to the Fox Cities which retain their individuality, but work together closely. "Interests in the Appleton area are common and the cities work closely together, but each thinks of itself as a separate city," he said.

The one man, one vote reorganization of the county boards was cited as an important step toward better government by Torinus. He said "county supervisors will now be county officers and will act for the good of the entire county."

Appleton's chamber was very active in constructing the new Outagamie County airport. The city needed a better airport," he said.

"Now the chamber is engaged in promoting better airline service for the area," Torinus added.

A joint effort of chamber organizations in Appleton, Green Bay, Neenah, Menasha and Kaukauna was the drive for a four-year university for north-eastern Wisconsin, he said.

The doors of the new school are expected to be opened in 1968, Torinus said and added that "the new school would be a great advantage to employers in the area. 'Employees want good education available to their children near their place of employment,'" he added.

"A chamber will do what its members want it to do," Torinus said.

Little Chute Construction Down in 1965

$250,661 Total, $56,000 Decline From '64 Figure

LITTLE CHUTE — Construction in the village for 1965 totaled an estimated $250,661, down about $56,000 from the 1964 figure of $317,425, according to figures released Thursday by Gerald Locy, building inspector.

Nine new homes were built during the year costing a total of $135,000 compared to 13 in 1964 costing $202,500. Home remodeling projects also showed a decrease from 18 costing $14,700 in 1964 to 17 costing $21,650 in 1965. Sixteen garages were built at a cost of $9,711 in 1965 and 14 were built at a cost of $12,600 in 1964.

A tool shed construction permit in 1965 listed cost at $300 compared to one costing $50 the previous year. One $1,000 billboard was also erected in 1965.

Other major permits in 1965 included a $30,000 addition to Crystal Printing Co., a $40,000 service station, a $5,000 tavern addition and two basements for homes moved in costing $8,000. Other permits in 1964 included three new businesses costing $72,000 and four business additions costing $22,227.

Fees collected in 1965 amounted to $100.50 compared to $127.14 in 1964.

Menasha to Provide Utilities to High School

MENASHA — Groundwork for installing city services to the site of proposed Neenah-Menasha Catholic High School was laid Thursday when the building committee met with city officials.

The building committee, board of public works and board of education coordinated installation of streets and storm and sanitary sewers.

Paul Klein, building committee chairman requested streets around the northern half of the school site — 16 acres bounded by 12th, 13th, Appleton and De Pere streets — be opened and that diagonal parking be allowed on both sides of the streets on all four sides of the school location.

Two Rivers Grapplers Take 23-21 Victory Over Neenah

NEENAH — Coach Gil Sutherland's Neenah High School wrestlers were edged by Two Rivers, 23-21, in a tight match here Thursday night.

The match was decided at 180 pounds when Two Rivers' Bill Peterson scored a 4-3 decision over Rocket sophomore Kevin Milliken in a match which had a torrid ending.

Milliken scored two points on a reversal to take a 3-2 lead and an apparent victory but referee Randy Haase ruled that Peterson had gained two points on a predicament before the reversal, giving the visitor the tying and winning points.

The win gave the Raiders an insurmountable 23-16 lead after which Neenah heavyweight Rick Bondow pinned Pete Mitchell in 36 seconds for a final two-point spread.

Two Rivers scored its points on six decisions and a forfeit. Mike Milliken and Dick Meyer, Neenah's 165 pounders, both are injured and unbeaten Jake Geimer of Two Rivers gained five points on a forfeit.

Neenah accounted for two other pins with Darwin Westphal stopping Larry Kujs in 5:29 at 95 pounds and Don Schroeder pinning Carl Gloe in 1:17 at 112.

Neenah Winners

Other Neenah winners were Bob Brockman (120), who edged Al LaFond, 4-3, and Mike LeGault (138), a needy 10-0 victor over Bob Beeck. Brockman now has 10 straight wins.

Jim Stuempges (145) and Gary Muttart (154) both finished strong but were one-point losers. Pat Schaller (133) bowled 2-0, on a third period reversal.

Neenah copped the junior varsity match, 23-23. Pat McCarthy (138) won on a pin, Bob Schwab (127) and Mike Witt heavyweight, posted decisions. John Popp (95), Barry Williams (120) and Bob Crockett (145) were forfeit victors and Mark Larson (180) battled to a 2-2 draw.

The varsity results:

5 — Darwin Westphal, N. pinned Larry Kujs, 5:29.

103 — Mike Anderson, TR. decided Tom Dieckhoff, 6-2.

112 — Don Schroeder, N. pinned Carl Gloe, 1:17.

Facilities at Court Concern Bar

NEENAH — MENASHA — The Winnebago County Bar Association has expressed concern about holding court over the Neenah Police Department building.

In a letter to the mayors of the Twin Cities this week, the bar association said, "we submit that facilities within the police station and a feeling that the court is part of the enforcement of the law and not independently conducted by the administration of justice."

Particulars in the case of juveniles, we believe, that the effectiveness of the court may be considerably reduced by pointer location of the facilities and their location, likewise, traffic and decision over John Tucker at other cases tend to be influenced by the location and type of facilities.

Barriers II and III of the Ted Turner, and Jim Hansen county court now set weekly in 12th victor, 6-5, over Fred Neenah police station.

Fox May Have Boiling Market Bearing in Stanik Death Pushes Higher

OSHKOSH — Whether a dead fox draped over the motor of a car driven by Michael Stanik, 19, 729 Ida St., Menasha, had a bearing on his fatal traffic accident is being investigated by Winnebago County authorities.

Lt. Richard Guenther, sheriff's investigator, said the fox was draped across the engine just behind the carburetor. It may have interfered with the accelerator linkage on the automobile, he said.

Stanik suffered fatal injuries in a one-car accident on State 114 in the Town of Menasha about 1:10 a.m. Wednesday. He died at Theda Clark Hospital 4½ hours later.

Winnebago County Coroner Art C. Miller said Friday that he was not sure whether an inquest would be made into the youth's death.

Stanik's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stanik Jr., indicated the fox could have been under the hood for several days, since the car had had a strange odor which could not be located, Miller explained.

Lt. Guenther said everything was just "speculation" at this point and that the investigation would continue.

Committee Withholds Action on License Bid

his application will be approved when a final vote does come. He has $282 deposited with the city clerk's office for the licenses.

The committee's position was that with nothing to inspect, according to procedure, it would not act on the license application.

In making his recommendation for license disapproval and presenting the committee with Milwaukee Police Department reports, Chief Wolff wrote:

Chief's Statement
"The purpose in bringing this information to your attention is because Mr. Gentile has shown more than just a casual interest in Mr. Maniaci's proposed business venture."

Gentile, who accompanied Maniaci to the city hall on previous occasions when discussing the restaurant venture with city officials, did not attend last night's meeting.

Catlin told the committee his client was entitled to hear the reason for the resolution being introduced in the council calling for license denial. He also decried the newspaper publicity given the matter.

Ald. R. P. Groh (8th), committee chairman, said the committee had no intentions of conducting a hearing on the resolution or license application, but would hold a regular meeting and give Maniaci an opportunity to be heard.

Objects to Stories

"I have to agree with Mr. Catlin and I don't agree with what was in the paper," commented Ald. Richard Huisman (1st). He wanted to know how all the information got into the Post-Crescent without the committee members knowing about it first.

Groh told Huisman he did not know where or how the newspaper got its information, declaring, "Furthermore, it's none of my business how the newspaper researched this matter."

Goldschmidt said his client was being put in an unfortunate position of having a majority of the council members asking for denial of the license before it got to committee and before he could be heard. He asked what procedure should be followed in presenting Maniaci's side, and questioned how his client could get fair treatment with the resolution before the committee.

Hadn't Seen Resolution

At this point Groh asked Froehlich whether there was any legal formality to be followed, and the city attorney said he had never seen the resolution being discussed.

Thompson said the resolution should be held until inspection has been made of the restaurant premises, and the license application not be treated any different than other applications. "Until all inspections are made, we should not grant or deny the request," Thompson said.

Froehlich said he thought Thompson's approach was correct.

Pointer said it appeared Maniaci wanted to be assured of having a license prior to renovating the building and spending money.

"Mr. Maniaci has already invested a considerable amount and wouldn't want to go spending any more money until a license is granted," Goldschmidt said.

'Guilty by Association'

Goldschmidt rapped The Post-Crescent for the publicity given the license application before it was acted on by the committee and charged the newspaper with using "guilt by association" tactics. He said the press had pushed the matter into "a celebrated case to make it look like there was something sinister."

Goldschmidt said the newspaper apparently needed news, and indicated the matter had political ramifications.

"We would like to know the basis of this resolution first before we can speak," Goldschmidt said. "We can't present a continue to escalate. He could not see what good would be accomplished.

Love Prestige

"It is not true the U. S. will lose prestige and power if it pulls out of Viet Nam," Aronson claimed. "Our world position will be threatened if we stay in."

Aronson also disagreed with Schneider's comments about maintaining influence in South-east Asia. He compared the possibility of China attempting to invade the Western Hemisphere with the U. S. at the time of the Vietnam conflict, and said the U. S. should maintain its influence in the area.

Schneider and Aronson agreed that the War of National Liberation being conducted by several high schools in the area the Viet Cong in Viet Nam is a prototype of future wars in Young Democrats.

defense until we know what the charge is." He also was critical of the police, and noted the police chief said earlier he would not recommend approval of the license if he were on the committee.

Goldschmidt questioned how the application could be denied when his client had no criminal record and there were about 25 licenses available. "About the only objection we've heard is that he knows Gentile, who has a record," Goldschmidt said.

No Interest

"He (Maniaci) will swear that Gentile has no interest in this venture and will not," Goldschmidt said. He said Gentile had known the Maniaci family for many years.

He said members of the Maniaci family were appalled when they read the stories in the newspaper. Goldschmidt said the Maniaci family was in the restaurant business in Milwaukee for many years and that his client held a Milwaukee license for several years.

Goldschmidt said Gentile had come to Appleton before Maniaci and "pretended to him he knew the ropes around here." Goldschmidt said his client made no attempt to conceal the fact that Gentile was a longtime friend of his family.

He claimed Maniaci talked with city officials when applying for the license, told them his plans, and that they did nothing to discourage him then. "You don't begin a proceedings with a resolution to deny a license request after he has invested money," Goldschmidt said.

Pointer Comments

"If there is any question of character involved, political future can go to hell as far as I am concerned," Pointer declared. "The council has the right to ask any questions, whether it be association or morals, and for one will raise a question at any time the character of this community may be at stake," Pointer said.

Chief Wolff, present but not asked to speak, said in his report that the police department received many rumors concerning the character of the applicant and the association he has had with a frequent law violator.

He listed six arrests for Maniaci from 1948 to 1962, four of them traffic charges. An assault and battery charge was dismissed in 1952.

"Mr. Maniaci filed bankruptcy in February, 1950, listing liabilities of $17,178 and assets of $200. As of July 22, 1965, there is a judgment against the subject of $3,847 by Auto Acceptance and Loan Co. of Milwaukee. Chief Wolff said in his report. He added:

Gentile Record
"Concerning Mr. Maniaci's association with a person who has been a frequent violator of the law, we refer to Mr. Nicholas S. Gentile (Gentili), 8 Embury Court, Appleton.

"In addition to Mr. Gentile's arrest record in Milwaukee he was indicted for income tax evasion 1958-61 on June 18, 1964. He entered a nolo contendere and on September 22, 1964 was sentenced to 60 days in the house of correction. The government has a $5,416 lien pending against Mr. Gentile."

Chief Wolff said records show Gentile went through a bankruptcy proceeding in 1958. He said there is presently a battery charge pending in circuit court at Oshkosh against Gentile.

Chief Wolff listed Gentile's 39 arrests, which resulted in 22 convictions on charges ranging from speeding to aiding and abetting prostitution, being an inmate of a gambling house and tax evasion.

More Than Casual

Wolff said the purpose of calling the information to the committee's attention was "because Mr. Gentile has shown more than just a casual interest in Mr. Maniaci's proposed business venture." He continued: "This is based on several circumstances, namely, Mr. Gentile signed the lease agree-

"Secondly Mr. Gentile visited Mr. Magnette, the building inspector, on two occasions with Mr. Maniaci relative to discussing interior construction work to determine if it complies with the building code."

Appear Together

Chief Wolff said Maniaci and Gentile were at his office inquiring about the status of the license, and said they were also taking at the mayor's office making inquiry about the license status.

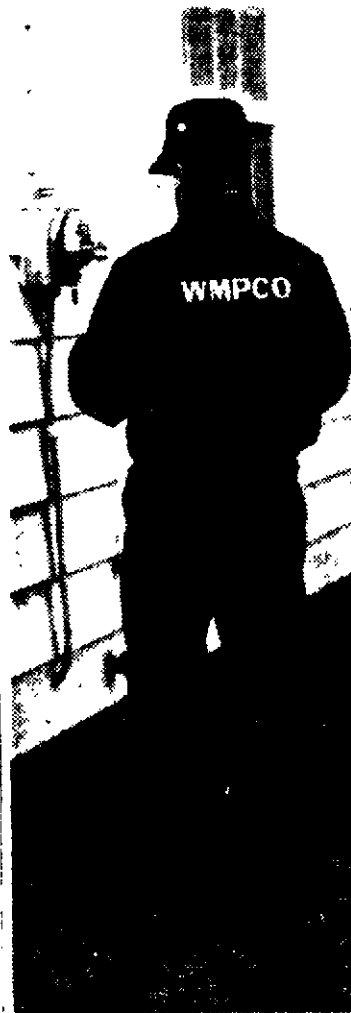

"There appears to be far more than a casual interest in this case on the part of Mr. Nicholas Gentile, in the license application of Mr. Maniaci for class B beverage license," Wolff said.

In recommending denial, Chief Wolff said it was based on Mr. Gentile's record of disregard for the laws of this state and his close association with Mr. Maniaci. Secondly, Mr. Maniaci has indicated he intends to invest a considerable sum of money in the business.

However, he has a judgment pending against him in Milwaukee.

thinks Nelson was "misinformed." As far as Balliet is concerned, "Nelson and Carley are all wet" on the appointments.

He thinks Nelson and Carley have hurt themselves and that the situation will "be a boost for Lucey."

'Boomerang'
Balliet, who is "thoroughly disgusted," said "a number of farmers are upset. I think this will boomerang against Nelson and Carley."

He said the appointments were made while Sen. William Proxmire was out of the country on a vacation. "Proxmire would have opposed the move," Balliet added.

Balliet's resolution, unanimously accepted by members at the meeting, requests Wisconsin Democratic congressmen to:

—Announce any salient findings which result from the investigation, and,

and the increased school costs. Obey said that for every increase of two taxpayers, there is an increase of nine persons under the tax-paying age. He quoted officials as saying that by 1970 there will be a leveling off of needs for budget increases.

However, Obey said increased taxes could be avoided by economic growth. "Prosperity and economic expansion on a national scale will prevent an increase in taxes."

Hollander said that $72 of every $100 in taxes collected by the state returns to finance local operations. This amounts to $531.4 million, he stated.

Extend Sales Tax
The Fond du Lac native said he favored an extension of the sales tax, proposed by Gov. Knowles, as a means of financing the budget.

Vote Against
Hollander declared the Aid to Dependent Children for Unemployed (ADCUC) bill would "remove the initiative to get ahead." He said he would vote against the bill.

He favored the elimination of the 90-day waiting period to receive Medicare benefits and proposed a $3,000 income limit to recipients.

"The Medicare task force may recommend ADCUC," he said. He asked for a revised formula so counties would pay part of the cost. He stated that the counties would save $24 million under the bill but it would cost the state an additional $8 million to operate the program.

Andrew Damon, an attorney for the State Department of Resource Development, this morning spoke on the state urban development law. He replaced John C. Roberts, planner with the department, who was unable to attend the conference.

Other Speakers

Other speakers on the morning program included Walt Roehl, executive vice president of the Wausau Area Chamber of Commerce; Giles Flanagan, executive vice president of the Manitowoc Chamber of Commerce and formerly of Appleton; and Charles G. Crabb, staff consultant of the Metropolitan Milwaukee Association of Commerce.

Fifth Firm Requests Franchise for CATV

President of Channel 11 Urges Delay Until After FCC Promulgates Rules

A fifth corporation has been formed with the intention of applying for a community antenna television franchise in the City of Appleton.

Known as Appleton CATV, Inc., the firm sent a letter to Mayor Clarence Mitchell and the council stating its incorporation and desire to obtain a franchise.

Directors of the firm are D. J. Killoren, 330 W. 7th St., president of Killoren Co., 925 N. Bluemound Drive; Donald E. Merceen, 209 S. State St., vice president and general manager of Midwest Communications and Audio, Inc., and John S. Spalding, 332 Park St., Menasha, president of Midwest Telephone Supply Co., 925 N. Bluemound Drive.

Officers are Killoren, president; Merceen, vice president; Spalding, treasurer, and T. B. McKenzie, attorney with the law firm of McKenzie, Robertson, Downey and Kellogg, Appleton. The law firm is serving as legal counsel for the corporation.

Urges Delay

The mayor also received a letter from V. I. Minahan, president of WLUC, Inc. Channel 11, Green Bay, a Post Corp. subsidiary.

In the letter, Minahan urged the city to postpone any action on CATV franchise applications until the Federal Communications Commission formulates definite rules regulating non-micro-wave-fed CATV systems.

Minahan stated the FCC had announced its intention of asserting jurisdiction over the above mentioned CATV systems and regulating them in a way similar to the way micro-wave-fed systems are now regulated.

Minahan said postponement of action would be "in the best interests of the people of our community, as it will protect

Paul A. Hietpas To Seek Post as Village Trustee

LITTLE CHUTE — Paul A. Hietpas, 120 W. Lincoln Ave., became the first candidate in the village for the April election when he took out nomination papers for trustee.

Hietpas served several terms as trustee in the 1950's and early 1960's and was an unsuccessful candidate for village president in 1963. He is married and owner of a Kaukauna shoe store.

Three trustees are to be elected this year. Incumbents who have not announced intentions to run are Clarence Lamers and Joseph Versteegen. The third post has been vacant as the former trustee, Edward Spierings, was elected president in 1965 and the village board could not agree on a replacement.

If the city does grant a CATV franchise, Minahan urges the city require the franchise guarantee to provide cable service to the entire community within a reasonable length of time, such as one year.

Similar letters were sent to all city councils and village boards within the Grade B contours of the Green Bay television stations.

assignees" at the option of the firm in the event they default in the terms of the contract.

"The exercise of such option shall be without notice, notice being specially waived," the agreement states.

"In the event we default in the terms of our lease, we grant a similar option to Modern Fixtures, Inc.," it adds.

Mrs. Gentile, 37, was in the news in 1963 when she was denied a $5 food license from the Wauwatosa Council to operate a pancake house at 11426 W. Bluemound Road, where the Gentiles then lived.

At that time Mrs. Gentile told the Wauwatosa Council's license committee her husband would not be involved in the corporation established to operate the pancake house.

On May 14, 1963, the committee requested Gentile to appear and answer questions during a two-hour hearing in which witnesses were sworn.

The committee unanimously concurred in the resolution of Wauwatosa Ald. George H. Mathes "Mr. Gentile." Mathes said, "will be associated in this venture, and, within the meaning of our ordinance, he is not of good morals."

Denies Interest

Mrs. Gentile, under questioning, then said her husband would not be associated with the venture but Wauwatosa Police Chief John F. Howard disagreed.

"If this license (food) is granted, the police department will, in view of the above circumstances, exercise more than the normal inspection of the restaurant," Chief Howard wrote the committee.

A spokesman for the Internal Revenue Service collection division said two weeks ago that a lien for $140, representing withholding liabilities for 1963, was filed July 12, 1965 against Beverly J. and Nicholas Gentile at Milwaukee.

Jury Declares Driver Guilty

Anton C. Kauth, 53, Appeals Conviction Of Tippy Driving

A six-member jury Thursday found Anton C. Kauth, 53, 1818 S. Sanders St., guilty of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants. Kauth, arrested by Appleton traffic police Oct. 31, immediately filed notice of appeal. Following the jury verdict, County Judge Gustave J. Keller fined Kauth $200 and costs and ordered his driver's license revoked for one year.

Kauth pleaded innocent when he first appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 on Nov. 1. Police said his car struck a barricade and tree at Seymour and Wilkie streets early the morning of Oct. 31.

Approval Given County to Extend Highway A to 125

The State Highway Commission has given Outagamie County approval for construction of the extension of County Trunk A from U.S. 10 to State 125. County Highway Commissioner Clarence Brownson said he received state approval this week for the three-quarter mile road project which had been approved by county supervisors at the November County Board session.

Work on the project is expected to begin in the spring. Brownson said. Estimated cost will be $45,000, with Outagamie County and the Town of Grand Chute splitting the expense. The new road will consist of a 100-foot right of way and a 24-foot paved hot mix surface. Brownson said.

Purdue is 0-2 despite having the nation's top major collegiate scorer, Dave Schellhase, with a 32.2 average. Schellhase, however, is second to Michigan's Cazzie Russell in Big Ten scoring. Russell has 29.5 in two games and Schellhase 28.0.

In another Saturday afternoon encounter, Ohio State (0-1) is at Michigan State (2-0) for a television game. At night, Indiana (0-2) is at Minnesota (0-1) and Michigan (2-0) at Northwestern (1-1).

Prothro Named Coach of Year

Small-College Coaching Honor Won by Curtice

WASHINGTON (AP)—UCLA's Tommy Prothro didn't have much luck against Duffy Daugherty last fall, but he's 2-0 against the Michigan State coach this year.

The latest victory—edging out Daugherty for Coach of the Year honors Thursday in balloting by the 812 members of the American Football Coaches Association—came as a result of the first win, a 14-12 upset over Michigan State in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

Prothro began the 1965 season, his first at UCLA after a decade at Oregon State, by losing 13-3 to Daugherty's Spartans.

Michigan State rolled unbeaten to the rest of the year and was ranked No. 1 when the two teams next met in the Rose Bowl.

Loses Wild Decision

After losing to Michigan State, UCLA was unbeaten, although tied by Missouri, until it lost a wild 37-34 decision to Tennessee in the final game of the regular season. UCLA finished with a 7-2-1 record, unbeaten in its own league.

Prothro, who has been a finalist in AFCA voting before, said, "I'm the same coach I have been for a number of years. So I had to be the players and assistant coaches."

Jack Curtice of the University of California at Santa Barbara was chosen small-college Coach of the Year to make it a clean sweep for California.

Bradley Suffers First Home Defeat Of Season, 75-66

Top-Ranked Duke Wins 76-61; New Mexico Upsets BYU '5'

By ED SCHUYLER JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

The old song goes "I wish I was in Peoria." But the Bradley Braves undoubtedly wish Drake had been somewhere else.

Drake, which lost 64-52 to Bradley last Saturday at Des Moines, Iowa, invaded the Illinois home of the fifth-ranked Braves Thursday night and upset them 75-66.

Brigham Young, No. 7 in The Associated Press poll, also came a cropper, bowing 81-78 to New Mexico at Albuquerque, N.M.

The only other member of the Top Ten to see action, Duke's No. 1 Blue Devils, badly scared before nipping Clemson 87-85 on the road Tuesday, found things more comfortable at home, trouncing Maryland 76-61.

First Home Loss

Bradley's defeat was the first at home this season after 10 straight victories and left the Braves at 13-2 over-all and 3-1 in the Missouri Valley Conference.

The Braves, trailing 36-21 at halftime, fought back to tie it at 50-50. But then Harold Jeter hit on a pair of field goals to put Drake ahead to stay. Jeter finished with 21 points.

Brigham Young, held to only 28 points in the first half of its Western Athletic Conference game, rallied in the second half but could get no closer than one point, 66-65, to the Lobos.

Mel Daniels got 23 points and Ben Monroe 22 for New Mexico. Brigham Young, now 10-2, was paced by Dick Nemelka and Steve Kramer with 19 each.

Duke had a fight on its hands for a while at Durham, N.C., before winning its 11th straight for a 12-1 overall record and a 5-1 Atlantic Coast Conference mark.

Einstein	2	2

Undeclared Roosevelt turned back a determined Einstein rally in the final period to notch its fifth consecutive triumph in Fox Valley Frosh League play.

Roosevelt held leads of 25-15 at halftime and 38-29 going into the final period, but Einstein fought back to knot the count at 47-47, before Roosevelt's Wally Day scored on a layup with 30 seconds remaining to give his team a 49-47 victory.

Mike Simon and Mike Lynott led the way for Roosevelt with 16 and 14 points, respectively. Tom Jones took game honors with 19 markers, including 11 of 12 from the free throw line. Gary Bleier chipped in with 14 points, missing only once in nine shot attempts.

Other results were Menasha 57, Neenah 50; Kaukauna 40, Wilson 35; and Kimberly 56, Wilson 36.

Tom Kopitzke rallied 28 points for Neenah, while Menasha's Brad Schliem rimmed 20. Bill Lamers poured in 16 markers for Kimberly, while Bob Birkholz topped Madison scoring with 13.

Dave LaBorde and Sean Rohan scored 14 and 10 points, respectively, pacing Kaukauna's attack.

Next Thursday's games send Madison to Wilson, Neenah to Kimberly, Roosevelt to Menasha and Einstein to Kaukauna.

The end came at 2:46 as blood gushed from a half-inch slice under the swollen left eye of the Michigan middleweight.

Football Coaches Present Citizenship Award to LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Football Coaches Association presented its annual outstanding American Citizenship Award to President Johnson Thursday in the White House Cabinet room and Johnson called it "a very special honor."

"You are developing the leadership today on the athletic field, who will be the leaders of tomorrow in the world," the President said in an exchange of compliments.

He said that if all the nations conducted their affairs with "the same fair play the game of football stands for, peace in the world would have been secured long ago."

Presents Award

The president of the coaches organization, Abe Martin of Texas Christian University, presented the award to Johnson for "the highest of distinction in service to others" and for outstanding service in the field of public service. He said that with Johnson in the White House "we look ahead, secure in the knowledge that freedom's course will prosper."

The award carries the name of Tust McLaughry, who is retiring soon after years of service as executive secretary of the coaches association. McLaughry and a dozen or more coaches were on hand including Darrell Royal of the University of Texas.

Royal introduced Johnson down the line and the President remarked at one point that he "heart beat a little faster when I heard Oklahoma was making overtures to Darrell Royal." The University of Oklahoma Royal's old school tried to lure him back to coach football and failed.

Durocher Enthusiastic, Certain He Will Lead Cubs Out of NL Depths

'We Aren't Going To Play Scared,' New Skipper Says

By CHARLES CHEBAMRLAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Leo Durocher, as enthusiastic as a school boy with a hot rod, has left little doubt that he will be the rudder that guides the Chicago Cubs out of the depths of the National League.

The new Cub skipper was starred Thursday in a big press-radio-television gathering and pumped out these ideas:

"The Cubs don't belong in eighth place, and my job is to get them out. I am as enthusiastic as if I were in my first year as a player or a manager. I'll press the buttons, but the players really make the manager."

At Lake Geneva

Owner P.K. Wrigley remained in his country place at Lake Geneva, Wis., but his son, Bill, was on hand for the Durocher doings.

Bill said:

"I talked to dad and he said that it would just be a waste of time for him to come in for the press luncheon because in Leo Durocher we have the greatest news source now on the sports scene. Dad's been delighted with the way Leo has taken over, and so am I. I don't believe there's any doubt that he's going to lead us upward in the standings."

"Leo has confidence, and that's about the greatest thing you can have going for you. And it's already beginning to reflect in the players. He's going to make the players believe in themselves, and that's one thing that has been lacking."

Yankees' Ford Signs Estimated $60,000 Contract

NEW YORK (AP) — Whitey Ford signed his New York Yankee contract for 1966 today for an estimated $60,000, believed to be the same terms he received last year.

Ford underwent surgery for a circulatory blockage leading into his left arm a year ago but still managed to win 16 while losing 13 for the sixth place Yankees. This is the 16th contract for Yankees' all-time winner who has a lifetime record of 232 victories and 97 defeats.

Ford said his arm now felt fine and added "that I expect to pitch at least four and five years."

Johnson Criticizes Strike Settlement as Being 'Inflationary'

Restoration of Transportation In Public Interest, Lindsay Says

By JERRY BUCK
NEW YORK (AP) — The wage package that got New York's transit system back on the track as described by President Johnson as inflationary, but Mayor John V. Lindsay says settlement of the strike was in the public interest.

Johnson criticized the settlement as exceeding the voluntary national wage-price guidelines recommended by government economic advisers to prevent an inflationary spiral.

"I do not believe that any settlement that violates the guidelines to this extent is in the national interest," he said at a news conference Thursday in Washington.

Mayor Lindsay—the man who had been in the middle during the 12-day bus and subway strike that ended Thursday—saw things differently however.

"Best for Everyone"

"I suppose people will argue and debate as to whether the settlement was too high or too low," Lindsay said even before Johnson spoke. "The agreement was best for the workers, the Transit Authority, the city and the country."

He said it "obviously serves the public interest."

Then, in response to Johnson's denunciation of the contract terms, Lindsay issued this statement:

"The chairman of the mediation panel, Dr. Nathan Feinsinger, prepared a memorandum at the time the panel recommended the settlement to the parties. The memorandum stated the settlement was within the guidelines."

"Under all the circumstances, the mediation panel having arrived at a firm recommendation, and the chairman having stated that it was within the guidelines, the Transit Authority had no choice but to accept it."

Return to Normal

Even as the argument raged over the merits of the settlement, the nation's largest city returned to normal after the painful and costly tieup. The toll may never be assessed, but it is estimated at $500 to $800 million.

With the settlement agreed upon, the Transit Authority went into court and asked for the release from custody of Mitchell J. Quill, president of the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union, and eight other union leaders who had been jailed.

They were arrested Jan. 4 for defying a Supreme Court injunction prohibiting the strike. Shortly after his arrest Quill collapsed and was admitted to Bellevue Hospital.

The eight men were released from the civil jail Thursday and Quill was released from the hospital Thursday night.

Within minutes after the TA and the striking TWU and Amalgamated Transit Union, AFL-CIO, accepted proposals by a three-man mediation panel Thursday, the first buses were rolling.

The first subway trains roared through the tunnels soon afterward, and by noon near normal service had been restored.

Cost of the settlement is estimated at between $52 and $70 million over two years.

Snow, Rain, Sleet, but No Severe Storms

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Snow, rain and sleet fell across scattered sections of the nation today but no severe storms were reported.

The storm in the Midwest which dumped more than a foot of snow in parts of Wisconsin and northern Illinois, weakened as it moved into the Northeast. However, fairly heavy amounts were reported in some areas, including three inches at Buffalo and Syracuse, N.Y.

A mixture of snow, sleet and freezing rain hit areas in high elevations of the Appalachians of Pennsylvania and the Virginias. Rain extended southward to the middle and western Gulf coasts.

The severe storm which lashed Wisconsin Wednesday and Thursday was blamed for the deaths of 11 persons. Ten of the victims died of heart attacks while shoveling snow and one man died of a heart attack while brushing snow off his car.

A fresh surge of Arctic air spread into the northern Plains and northern Midwest areas and dropped temperatures to below zero in parts of Minnesota and North Dakota and to near zero in northern Michigan.

The mercury dipped to 21 below zero at International Falls, Minn., and to -17 at Grand Forks, N.D.

Rep. Chelf's Plea for 4-Year Term Met With Resounding 'Yes' by LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — In his 22 years in the House, Rep. Frank Chelf has become known as quite an orator. Now it appears he is quite a letter writer, too.

Last fall, the Kentucky Democrat wrote President Johnson asking him to back a constitutional amendment for a four-year term for House members.

Chelf said he had written the letter to himself. "The President's a busy man. He can't read a letter that long." So I worked it over and got it down to two pages.

"I thought that was still too long so I really worked on it. I made every little word sing a song and do a dance and I got it down to one page."

"Every Word Sang"

Chelf said the President told him Wednesday, "What do you think of the Chelf amendment now? You probably never thought I'd read your letter, but I did. I sure gave it a plug, didn't I?"

"I told him it was the best speech he had ever made," said Chelf.

Besides writing to the President last session, Chelf wrote a stream of letters seeking support for his amendment.

"I sent out 8,500 letters," he said. "And I talked up the amendment every time and place I could. Merciful heavens! I was so busy with that and all the other things that I went from 140 pounds to 118."

The effort produced pledges of support from 254 House members and opposition from only 41. He found 44 senators favorable to the amendment and only six against it.

Plans for Atom Smasher Might be Cancelled by AEC

WASHINGTON (AP)—A tight budget situation may cause the Atomic Energy Commission to cancel plans for a giant $348 million atom-smasher, it was learned Thursday. A Stoughton, Wis., site is under consideration for the device.

An authoritative source outside the AEC reported the commission is now considering three alternative proposals, one of which would pinpoint the site for a less costly device.

Williams F. Fry, a University of Wisconsin professor and a member of the National Academy of Sciences site selection team, said Thursday that the rumor that the atom smasher might not be built had been circulating "in the press releases," but it had no official source.

"There is no official statement," he said.

Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., of the Joint Senate - House Atomic Committee, said "To me, it looks like possibly the beginning of the end for the $348 million machine. When you start talking about alternatives, it adds up to that."

In Hosmer's view, the AEC's reported study of possible alternatives to the originally proposed machine stems from the economy drive linked with the Viet Nam war. Congress has not yet authorized construction of the originally proposed device.

It was learned also that the

U.S. Keeps Eye on Viet Nam For Any Sign of Red Letup

Klan Hearing To be Turned To Alabama

LBJ Cannot Say Whether Slightly Slowed Action Due to Peace Effort

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are keeping a careful watch on Communist military operations in Viet Nam for any evidence of a possibly deliberate scaling down of activities.

President Johnson said Thursday "it is a fact" that the number of incidents initiated by the Viet Cong forces in recent days had decreased but he was unable to say whether the decrease was prompted by his peace efforts.

Johnson had promised in his State of the Union message Wednesday night that "we will respond if others reduce their use of force."

One source said there is a chance the House Committee on Un-American Activities can complete testimony by Mississippi witnesses late today but another expected it will be early next week.

Schemes of violence and money were the prime targets of committee questioning Thursday including a suggestion that klansmen bomb the train carrying Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson on a campaign swing through the South in 1964.

Firing Squad

An investigator said this idea, attributed to Louis Di Salvo, a Waveland, Miss., barber, and a proposal to set up a firing squad to eliminate Klan informers, were too scary even for klansmen.

Di Salvo, 38, a New Orleans native, invoked the protection of the Fifth Amendment against possible self-incrimination when asked if he sponsored the schemes.

Rep. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., the committee chairman, questioned Elmore D. Greaves closely about Greaves' fears for safety in coming to Washington to testify.

Greaves, 39, who said he was a cotton farmer and publisher of the Southern Review in Jackson, Miss., acknowledged he had sent the committee a telegram asking closed sessions.

"How long have you been here?" asked Willis during the afternoon testimony.

"Since Tuesday," replied Greaves.

Willis then asked the witness if he has found it unsafe to drive, walk around the Capitol or attend committee sessions.

"No," said Greaves.

Knowles Suggests Tax Credit to Firms Training New Workers

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles said Thursday that the state might help ease the skilled manpower shortage in Wisconsin by offering a tax credit to industrialists for training workers.

Knowles, speaking at an industrial management apprenticeship seminar luncheon in Milwaukee, said the shortage would continue because of the tremendous increase over the last 15 years of persons under 21 and over 65.

In the next 20 years, Knowles said, Wisconsin must train from 150,000 to 175,000 skilled workers.

The governor said a recent federal law appeared to offer tax credits for industrial training for workers.

Decline in Incidents

There was thus a drop of 160 incidents in the first week of January as compared with the last week of December, but the level for the first week in January was still above the weekly average of 850 incidents for the last quarter of 1965.

As used by U.S. civilian and military authorities, the word "incident" embraces all kinds of Viet Cong actions from random outbursts of firing or a raid on a peasant family to actual military attacks.

Officials here said that in the first week of January there were 17 military attacks by the Viet Cong but all were below battalion strength. In the last week of December there were 25 military attacks on U.S. and South Vietnamese forces including three of battalion size.

So far as Washington authorities could determine, the level of Viet Cong activity is following this week about the same pattern which it followed last week. But officials said there could be many reasons for this and that there was no real basis yet for attaching serious importance to it as a reaction to Johnson's peace campaign.

Your Money's Worth

Know Organization to Which You Contribute

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Last year you, the generous American, gave over $11 billion to worthy causes ranging from health research to rehabilitation of the handicapped. Last year you, the glibbie giver, also poured an estimated $110 million into the coffers of a sickening array of fake charities, phony fund-raisers, name-dropping swindlers.

National Problem

Charity rackets now rank among the top four of the nation's swindles, according to a just completed survey of 125 local Better Business Bureaus by the National Better Business Bureau. Although many of the old-time charity hucksters have disappeared from the American scene in recent years, "Enough are still out in sufficient force," says a spokesman for the NBBSB, "to be a major embarrassment to legitimate charities."

California Redistricting Completed

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A revolutionary reapportionment of the California Legislature was law today, with a mad scramble for political advancement or survival expected to result.

One year, six months and 27 days after the U.S. Supreme Court handed down its historic one-man, one-vote ruling, the California Supreme Court unanimously approved the legislature's redistricting.

Main effect of the decision was obvious long ago: Southern California now takes full numerical control of lawmaking in the nation's most populous state.

But observers looking ahead saw these possibilities:

- Election of the first Negro ever to sit in the California Senate.
- Biggest shakeup in both houses in history, with a massive turnover in membership.
- Some of the bitterest primary and general election campaigning in years. Incumbents — often of the same party — pitted against incumbents for political survival.
- Eagerness of politicians to campaign this spring for the primary election in June complicating the job of passing a record state budget and raising taxes substantially.

However, it is the men who say the pretty speeches and make the courteous remarks that get a younger? Yet middle-aged men can be just as exciting and vibrant as the earlier years.

Staff Irked by New Regulation At White House

Phone Monitoring Looked Upon as Too Much Efficiency

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — When the White House switchboard was ordered three months ago to record the names of all incoming callers, the only unruffled White House staffer was W. Marvin Watson Jr., the presidential assistant who contrived this unusual tattle-tale system.

Watson did not even confide his plan to Bill D. Moyers, President Johnson's No. 1 assistant (who is exempted from the monitoring system). Presumably, only Watson and the President knew — and today know — the full reason behind the record-keeping of every outside caller and the assistant he is calling.

One assistant — McGeorge Bundy, the President's outgoing national security expert — wrote a no-nonsense memo to the President complaining that one of his personal civil rights was the right to receive phone calls in privacy from any one he wanted.

Log Auto Stops

Since then, the Watson system of keeping tabs on White House assistants has expanded. White House chauffeurs now turn in a complete log of every stop they make with a White House aide as passenger, how long the stop takes, the address, what other passengers may be riding with the White House assistant, plus other details.

Still another source of intelligence, always available but seldom used by other Presidents, is the log at all White House entrances. It records every visitor, from Congressmen to cleaning women. These logs, which used to be filed in a dusty bin, now go to Watson for regular scrutiny.

The reason for all these placed at the White House gumshoe activities is ostensibly Watson's efficiency studies of White House work standards. In the triggered by President Johnson's well-known drive to reduce expenditures. But Watson's background distorts this drive.

Watson's Background

Watson is out of small-bore big business (assistant to the president of labor-baiting Lone Star Steel Co. before joining the President) and has infused his new job with the enthusiasm of a nit-picking efficiency expert. Time studies, coffee breaks, paper-pushing, and the like were understandable targets for routine efficiency attacks in Watson's earlier world of Lone Star Steel.

But the White House is not Lone Star Steel. The White House staff is no assembly line of clock punchers but highly respected experts covering the whole range of public affairs who work with amazing efficiency without overtime and without public praise.

Thus for Watson to discover — as he has — that one assistant got only eight telephone calls in a 10-hour period or only had three callers in two days is scarcely evidence that that assistant isn't pulling his weight. And yet invidious comparisons like that are becoming a somewhat sour Washington joke.

When the new telephone monitoring system went into effect, we were informed it would last a short time. Its apparent purpose (although no one knew for sure) was only to measure the input of calls in preparation for a new switchboard system. But it immediately put everyone in the White House on notice that Watson could know the identity of every person calling in.

'Big Brother' Stuff

Although Bundy was the only Presidential assistant audacious enough to put his concern in writing, other White House staffers have felt a certain apprehension that Watson can at any time confront them with a list of every telephone caller from outside and in fact construct from other records a fairly complete story of their outside life. It gives them an unpleasant feeling of being "big brother" watching.

Whether the President himself is aware of this is an open question. Although he keeps close touch with the comings and goings of his assistants, Watson's checking up may have gone much farther than intended. Watson, indeed is a detail man of formidable dimensions who are "his boys." He not only "Your Mind," in care of The For instance he personally helps them, but they help him. New York City Welfare Budget $663 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — The City Welfare Department has submitted a $663-million budget for the next fiscal year, an increase of $142 million over the current budget.

Philip Sokol, acting welfare commissioner, said the welfare rolls would continue to grow unless New York provided more jobs for unskilled and semi-skilled workers.

new guardhouses now being placed at the White House

This attention to detail was fine for Lone Star Steel. In the White House it's out of place. And when it turns into gumshoe tactics, it's downright demoralizing.

Stolen Car's Owner Not Responsible

High Court Upholds Ruling That Denied Eligibility to be Sued

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin Supreme Court ruled Thursday that the owner of a stolen car cannot be held responsible for damages resulting from an accident involving the auto.

The decision affirmed one given earlier by Milwaukee Circuit Judge Robert C. Cannon involving a Milwaukee ordinance making it unlawful to leave the key in an unattended vehicle.

When Stanley J. Mackai parked his car the night of Dec. 2, 1960, he removed the key when he left the car, but did not lock the doors. An extra ignition key was hidden in a box in the glove compartment. The compartment was not locked.

The car was later stolen by an unknown person and collided with another driven by William Meihost in Milwaukee. Meihost and his wife claimed injuries and sued Mackai. It was established that the key from the compartment was used to operate the Mackai car.

The Meihosts claimed Mackai was negligent because he left the key. The lower court found for Mackai, stating that "even assuming there was an ordinance violation, the chain of causation was broken when the theft occurred."

The high court opinion, written by Justice Horace Wilkie, said Mackai "could not reasonably anticipate the theft or foresee harm would result."

Planned Sale of Circus Stamp in State Protested

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP)—Protests have been filed with Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien on the selection of Delavan, Wis., as the site for the first-day sale of the History of the American Circus stamp.

The protests filed with O'Brien Wednesday were from two Bridgeport groups dedicated to perpetuating the saga of the American circus.

The Barnum Festival Society made a recommendation for simultaneous release of the five-cent commemorative stamp on May 2 in several communities identified with the beginnings of the American circus.

Miss Elizabeth S. Seeley, curator of the Barnum Museum, suggested that Somers, N.Y., which was a home base for circuses as early as 1805, be given the philatelic honor.

Several localities could lay claim to the historic association including Baraboo, Somers, Sarasota, Fla., and Bridgeport.

Reuss Urges LBJ Not to Resume Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Wisconsin congressman disclosed Wednesday that he has urged President Johnson not to resume large-scale bombing of North Vietnam.

Democratic Rep. Henry S. Reuss wrote the President that "you are under great pressure by many Republicans and I regret to say, some Democrats" to resume bombing and "my advice, hope and prayer is that we do not do it."

Reuss said that large scale bombing tends to harden enemy resistance. He pointed out that the bombings have not brought North Viet Nam to the negotiating table and therefore have been a failure.

By limiting the war, he said, this country will be in a better position to pursue peace negotiations.

Pipe Line Company Seeks Expansion In Wisconsin Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Power Commission announced Tuesday that the Michigan-Wisconsin Pipe Line Co. of Detroit is seeking authority to expand natural gas pipeline facilities acquired from the former American Louisiana System.

Michigan - Wisconsin also proposes construction on its own system in Wisconsin, Michigan, and Iowa. The expansion program would cost $75 million.

The company said the additional facilities are required to meet increased 1966-67 heating season demands of existing customers.

Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. is one of the firms which purchases natural gas from the pipe line Co.

$3 Million in Damage From California Flood

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Army engineers say rampaging rivers of Northern California caused an estimated $3 million damage last week.

Carley Not Running on Party Ticket

MADISON (AP)—David Carley, Madison, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, said Wednesday that he was definitely not "running on a ticket" with other Democratic candidates for state offices.

Carley, the Democratic National Committeeman, said he was strongly opposed to Democratic candidates for state constitutional office running as a "state ticket."

"The Wisconsin Democratic party has had a long and proud history of non-endorsement in its nominations for public office," Carley said. "Slating candidates or the offering of complete 'tickets' in a primary violates the very concept which has been so important to us."

Carley's statement ended reports that he and Milwaukee businessman Abe Swed, a running as team.

The State of the Union Message

President Johnson's State of the Union message was a sugarcoated declamation promising something for everybody. We will do everything necessary to prosecute the war in Viet Nam but we will also push ahead with plans for the Great Society, we will raise federal spending to all-time record highs, but we won't have to raise taxes and we'll still wind up with a relatively small budget deficit.

The people who were probably most private shocked were the members of Congress who heard it in person. If they are going to accomplish everything he asked of them they'll never get out of Washington in time for the fall Congressional elections.

But despite all the promises the message was most disappointing in that the President refused to face several key basic problems facing the country. All his verbiage on Viet Nam added not one new idea to how the nation might solve that terrible problem. And he avoided a frank discussion of the very real threat of inflation in this country.

Let's analyze the question of the nation's economy for a moment and attempt to put his remarks into perspective. He said the war on poverty will continue and he asked additional appropriations to finance programs in the fields of education, health and welfare. But on the other hand many of his new domestic programs are of the type which will not involve major additional spending. In fact when he got down to figures he pointed out that while the cost of the war in Viet Nam will rise $58 million next year, domestic spending will increase only by $600 million. And that despite a record $112.8 billion budget, his estimates of increased federal tax revenues will leave a deficit of only $1.8 billion.

In actuality these budget estimates today are worse than guesses, they're fictitious. The bookkeepers in the Budget Bureau can make them come out any way they want. The catch is in how much of the cost of the Vietnamese war is included in the budget, and how much the President will later ask from Congress in supplemental appropriations which the budget didn't cover. Republicans have been pointing out in recent months that we have been following a policy as regards the war of "fight now, pay later."

Through this type of figure juggling the President justified not asking for a tax increase now. He does propose to increase federal revenues on a one-shot basis by increasing the tax withholding rates on both individuals and corporations. And he did ask for restoration of the excise cuts on automobiles and telephone bills which just went into effect Jan. 1, but this involved only about $1 billion.

And then in a roundabout way he told possible critics in Congress that if they disagree with his financial thinking they can propose a tax increase, and take the blame for it themselves.

Finally, he put the onus for success or failure squarely on the Congress. The plan will work, he said, "if you approve every program I recommend."

The message was plain in this regard. Deny me any part of my requests and you take the responsibility if events do not work out as I predict. There was also the threat that he can always come back later and ask for more war appropriations — and the taxes to pay for them.

The arm-twisting on Congress started with the State of the Union message this session.

Sukarno Sets Things Straight

President Sukarno's waning influence in Indonesia was once more in evidence in his latest outburst against the United States.

While speaking at a ceremony installing a new ambassador to Syria, Sukarno suddenly exploded about American newsmen. Quite to the surprise of his officials, he told First Deputy Premier Subandrio "to get out all American correspondents from Indonesia. This is our country. We do not want foreign correspondents writing untrue things about Indonesia."

The "untrue things" which Sukarno protests are reports in various American periodicals that he is no longer in control. "They also say that Nasution has become supreme commander of Koti, the supreme operations command. I am still the supreme commander of Koti."

There was no word from either Nasution or other armed forces leaders about Sukarno's orders or statements. As a figurehead, Sukarno still has some use but it seems to be fading. Students have demonstrated again about Communists in Sukarno's government and in favor of the military. But Sukarno as a scapegoat after all these years also plays an important role as far as the real commanders of the nation are concerned. He is now getting the blame for the increase in prices caused by government economic measures aimed at curbing inflation. For that he is still useful although he does not seem to comprehend.

Evicting the two American newsmen now in Indonesia is hardly a hardship either for the military leaders in Jakarta or for American publications. Those to which Sukarno most vehemently objected because they told the truth about his dwindling influence actually receive much of the material from correspondents of other countries now assigned to Indonesia.

Farm Economy Improves in 1965

A generally optimistic report on the state of the nation's agricultural industry has been issued by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, and the report states that conditions in the Middle West are even somewhat better than for the nation as a whole.

Gross farm income surged strongly upward in 1965 after four years of stability. Estimated at $14 billions, this is about $1 billion higher than 1964. The income gain reflected higher prices for livestock and increased government payments to farmers. Actually the increase in government payments, $230 millions, represents almost one-quarter of the total increase in income.

Other favorable factors included an increase in farmers' holdings of bank deposits and investments, an increase in crop inventories, and an increase in the value of farm lands. But not all of these represented an increase in net worth, for farm debts also rose.

In this Federal Reserve district cash receipts of farmers from sales of livestock and livestock products were considerably above the year earlier level. Total U.S. supplies of red meat were less than 1964, reflecting curtailed production after the low meat prices of 1963 and 1964. Profits from cattle feeding operations were the highest in six or seven years and for hogs the highest in more than a decade. On the other hand these factors are expected to result in an increase in livestock production this year, with the possibility that livestock prices may decline by year's end.

The report commented that "further efforts of farmers to enlarge and improve their farms and to further mechanize their operations continued to increase their demand for credit," and bank loans to farmers rose sharply in 1965. The farmer, like all other businessmen, is faced with a continuing rise in wage rates and the prices of manufactured items he buys, and the only immediate answer is further mechanization and increasing the size of farm operations to increase volume.

Despite the optimistic statistics, there are several basic factors in the farm economic picture which continue to be worrisome. One is the powerful influence government subsidies play in the farmer's gross income. The other is the relative low level of net profit from most farm operations.

For the nation as a whole for 1965 realized net income per farm rose to an estimated $4,100 from about $3,700 the previous year. But this takes into account the fact that there is a continued decline in the total number of farms. And if the national average is $4,100, it must be assumed that there are a great number of farm operations which are non-profitable.

The long-range view for farmers who have modernized their operations is generally an optimistic one, however. The world demand for food is soaring to the extent that surpluses in the United States may some day be a thing of the past. Hopefully the government subsidy programs can gradually be phased out of existence under such a condition. But that carries with it the threat of severe hardship to the submarginal and unproductive farm.

The lesson from all these figures may well be that the unproductive farm will have to go.

The County Board under the new regime held its first session on Tuesday night last. Mr. L. E. Darling was chosen Chairman.

We believe that under the administration of the new Board the rights of every man will be respected, and the best interests of the tax-payers maintained. We do not believe that any pennywise or niggardly policy will obtain in our deliberations. May we not be

Our City Fathers have received a large, long, list of letters from the City Clerk's Office for the meetings of the Common Council. It has been filled up very comfortably and as prizes for the aldermen will probably increase in numbers.

Taylor Writes

Great Nations Historically Ones Which Won Wars They Fought

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

President Johnson's State of the Union message is analytical, which is what it is intended to be. The largest problem of the Union, however, is philosophical. And it has to do with war.

The greatest danger to the United States would be acceptance of a peace at any philosophy.

Our Viet Nam involvement

can be soundly debated on several grounds, but not on the basis that we are in a war.

The many respected (and also many suspect) voices that announce the war, as such, as immoral help push us toward the greatest danger. Oh no, morality does not consist of flight from military challenge. Civilizations — their morality included — have been saved time and again by brute courage and brute force, and in no other way.

War is Ghastly

War is ghastly beyond measure. I have seen a great deal more than my share of war and if I had my way I would erase every moment of it from my life forever. Col. John H. Glenn: "Those who have been shot at are the real peace lovers." But pacifism is not a design in national life; it is a reckless doodle.

To hate war is good and to fear war is human. But to hate and fear war too much is premonitory. It helps to create or intensify the very consequences it wants to avoid.

Compassion is noble, and we Americans are a compassionate people.

But true compassion, of course, involves prudence. Surely, no moral directive requires the United States to be so compassionate with our enemies that we ultimately accept liquidation.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy tells us that Americans should send their blood to the Viet Cong. What kind of thinking is that? No wonder the Viet Cong still feel they have a chance.

Our problem is victory. In simple truth, great nations can be historically defined as the nations that won the wars in which they engaged. This is the stark reality.

The Communists understand that thoroughly. "Ambush," "envelopment," "the tangent attack" — these are military methods used against military commanders who comprehend their meaning and provide defenses against their success. The Communists apply the same methods against the minds of civilian masses who do not understand them and fail to provide defenses against them.

To the Reds propaganda is a military weapons system.

One of this weapons system's most important objectives is to foster a double-standard. This has been inflicted on us for years. For example, able author Anthony Harrigan in his superb analysis, "Defense Against Total Attack," notes the Communist war-peace zone double-standard.

Any interference by the free world in the Red-dominated zones is called a threat to world peace. But when there are Red intrusions into Cuba,

Santo Domingo or throughout the rural continents we're told we "must learn to live with" these as normal in "our changing world."

The double-standard is similarly fostered in the United Nations. Whatever Afro-Asians say or do is right, whatever Europeans or ourselves say or do is considered wrong and prejudiced by special interests.

MASS NEUROSIS

This double-standard pressure is one explanation for the mass neurosis among many of our intelligentsia which perverts intellectualism's mission into a compromise with principles, the elevation of acquiescence and a willingness to deal in double-standards regarding the Red aggression in Viet Nam. The same thinking (or lack of it) was involved in the frail design for the Bay of Pigs which led to the catastrophe there.

All this encourages the Communist belief that our elaborate life, our kind of conscience and our concern for other peoples make us internally weak and, in effect, disarm us so that we cannot win brutal struggles wherever they are promoted by Moscow or Peking.

The basic Red aim is to paralyze the will of free opponents as a prelude to seizing or encircling their territory. Here is the dancer in the preambles of the Dr. Martin Luther Kings, et al., who apparently sponsor peace at any price.

The decisive need in the state of our Union is to see that this does not happen.

Knowles Admits Work Load Staggering in First Year in Office

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — In a year-end interview, Gov. Warren Knowles confessed that one of the regrets of his recent experience is the discovery that a governor never has enough time to perform all the work that a conscientious executive wants to do.

The declaration might have been by way of a hint that the governor will take a new approach to his tasks during the second year of his first two-year term and that he will concentrate more deliberately on the day-to-day tasks of the executive office.

Those who wish him well, within his party and elsewhere, will probably welcome such an adjustment of his work habits. For there has been no man chosen for his desk during the last generation who has followed a more arduous pace of travel and public relations than the present governor, often it has seemed to some of his well-wishers, at the cost of more effective performance at the capitol.

The governorship is by all odds the most difficult of the major public offices within the control of the Wisconsin electorate. Lately its difficulties have been compounded. There was the time when a governor could be elected with reasonable assurance that he would get a second term with nominal effort.

THE DIFFICULTIES

That day has long since passed. Anyone who makes any easy assumptions about how Wisconsin elections will turn in the future marks himself as naive and unobservant. Doubtless the narrowness of his election margin in 1964, in a year otherwise disastrous for his party, and an awareness of the uncertainties of 1966 have figured in the Knowles extraordinary field work schedule.

There is also the fact that the size and complexity of the state government have increased hugely, and that the executive office staff of assistants has been enlarged measurably. A comparison of the executive entourage of the governor with that of the University of Wisconsin president, to choose an administrative officer at random who doesn't have to worry about courting the voters at frequent intervals, is illuminating.

Finally, there is the quality of the Knowles personality that contributes to his extraordinary work pace. Old friends note that it has been one of his characteristics since early youth. He likes work, he likes activity, he enjoys the exposure to new faces and personalities, and feels uncomfortable when he is inactive.

A BIG YEAR

The evident determination to ease the travel and public relations pace in favor of a more concentrated round of duty in the office comes at a timely moment. For there are major developments and projects under way of lasting importance that need the attention and the prestigious prodding of the state's chief officer.

In his quiet way Knowles is presiding over departures of program and policy—in part because of some striking agreements made with a State Assembly under the control of an opposing party—that would have been exploited more noisily by a more flamboyant politician. The restructuring of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education contains implications of historic importance in the most difficult and important field of state service.

The reorganization of the vocational school program, the blue-printing of the most serious general state reorganization effort ever advanced, an emerging program of more effective water pollution control, expansion of the outdoors recreation program, and possibly, an accelerated highway construction program, among others, will require all of the executive's intellectual and physical resources.

They also provide an opportunity to validate the governor's often repeated thesis that "the best politics is good government."

Books, Movies Minor Factors in Immorality

BY SYNDEY J. HARRIS

When we hear about "immorality" or "promiscuity" today, those who deplore its extent usually put the blame on cultural factors—on pornographic books or suggestive films or lewd entertainment of some sort.

What we are reluctant to

a sense of rootedness goes along with stable sexual habits; conversely, a nation of migrants feels free to take its pleasures in whatever ways it can.

The growing independence of women has been another factor, especially in terms of the labor market. Woman has left the home as never before in history—into colleges, into shops and offices and factories, into community activities and clubs and male contacts she never thought possible a generation ago.

More money, more mobility, more anonymity, more impersonality, more freedom and access and means and opportunity—these are the driving reasons behind our vast changes in sexual habits. And they arise from the economic and technical and demographic changes in our living habits. Sex is never an isolated element in any social order, but is a conditioned part of the whole thrust of that society.

We are dealing with minor symptoms when we attack dirty books or loose magazines or sniggering films, if we imagine that these exercise a substantial influence on the sexual conduct of young people. These, too, are part of the modern technology, and they follow rather than lead the social current.

Forgetful Wives Fail To Collect Alimony, Child Support Checks

PHOENIX, Ill. (AP) — The Circuit Court clerk has $2,500 worth of wives' checks for alimony and child support.

Money totaling $1,344.85, a portion of the $2,243 which has been accumulating as far back as 1921, will be turned over to the state.

Funds not claimed within seven years become payable to the state.

Circuit Clerk J. Harold Bolles found the money was paid by 39 parties. The sums range from $1 to $300.

By contacting lawyers, relatives and the telephone directories, Bolles was able to find six persons who forgot to pick up their money.

$111 Billion Revenue Guess May be Low

Treasury Consistently Underestimates Tax Yield, Experts Say

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's forecast of a record $111-billion federal revenue total next year drew cries of skepticism in Congress but economic experts said it was easily attainable.

They said the figure may well turn out to be conservative if the boom continues unabated through 1966 and into 1967 as now predicted.

The Treasury has been consistently underestimating tax yields throughout the almost five years of unprecedented economic expansion, the experts pointed out.

Low Deficit
Johnson revealed the $111-billion estimate in his State of the Union message, forecast spending of $112.8 billion for fiscal 1967 and said the resulting $1.8-billion deficit would be the lowest in years.

If the estimates turn out to be accurate, they would mean the brightest U.S. fiscal picture since 1960, when there was a $1.2-billion surplus. That is the last time the government's accounts have been in the black.

Republicans jumped on Johnson's figures with both feet, particularly the revenue prediction. They said it was unrealistic, unbelievable, obviously padded.

The immediate reaction of some Democrats in Congress was to voice hope that the estimates would turn out to be correct, but to say privately they had serious doubts.

Democratic View
However, Democrats at the Capitol took a much more optimistic view after an analysis of the figures by top staff men on the Senate-House Economic Committee and other fiscal experts.

They advised that the $111 billion could be reached with a smaller revenue gain than has been achieved at other times in the last decade when the economy was operating from a much lower base.

The analysis they offered goes like this:

The revenue figure for the current fiscal year, 1966, ending June 30, originally was estimated by Johnson at $94.4 billion.

But last November the Budget Bureau announced that this had been jumped to at least $96.5 billion because of the continuing economic boom, with strong indications that it would be considerably higher. There was a feeling among many economists it might even reach $100 billion.

Ask Tax Changes
Assuming that the revenues for the current year total $99 billion, a $12-billion gain would be needed to attain Johnson's fiscal 1967 prediction.

But he is asking Congress for three tax law changes which would produce $4.8 billion of this.

That would mean only $7.2 billion would have to come from economic growth.

Revenue figures for the past 10 years show two occasions, in 1956 and 1960, when there was a jump of more than $2 billion. Both times the economy was running at high speed.

Restore Excise Tax
Johnson's three-point tax package calls for restoring excise tax cuts which were lifted Jan. 1 on cars and phone bills, a speed-up of corporation tax payments and a graduated withholding system on the individual income tax to bring in some money faster.

The economic experts at the Capitol, while defending the $111-billion revenue estimate, say that the $112.8-billion spending figure may well turn out to be too low.

There are so many imponderables in the war situation and in the administration's many domestic programs that the spending picture cannot become clear for many months, they say.

More Sanctions Due

British Official Cancels Planned Rhodesia Trip

LONDON (AP) — Commonwealth Secretary Arthur Bottomley canceled a visit to Rhodesia today to escape "insult or worse" as Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government readied new economic punishment for the rebellious African colony.

Returning from the Commonwealth conference in Nigeria, Bottomley had planned to stop in Salisbury, the Rhodesian capital, to meet with Gov. Sir Humphrey Gibbs, Britain's representative whom the government of Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith no longer recognizes. Bottomley also planned a "courtesy call" on Smith.

Indicate Recognition

When Bottomley reached Lusaka, Zambia, the British High Commission (embassy) there said Smith had made clear that a call on him by Bottomley would indicate British recognition of his regime. Otherwise, the high commission said, the Commonwealth secretary "would be treated as a private individual."

Citing the treatment of three Laborite members of the British Parliament in Salisbury this week, the statement said: "A visit under these circumstances would entail the risk of one of her majesty's ministers being subject to possible insult or worse."

The three MP's, all opponents of Rhodesia's secession, were roughed up by a crowd of whites at a meeting Wednesday, and Thursday night the Rhodesian government ordered them to leave the territory.

Added Sanctions

Wilson told newsmen additional sanctions against the Smith regime will be announced very soon. Those already in force include a ban on oil supplies, a ban on British purchase of Rhodesian tobacco and sugar and a freeze on the colony's overseas financial reserves.

Death Toll From State Snow Storm Climbs to 11

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five victims have been added to the list of persons who died from heart attacks due to the storm which lashed Wisconsin Wednesday and Thursday. The total number of deaths was boosted to 11.

Four of the victims were stricken as the result of snow shoveling. A New Berlin man, Henry Jesko, 65, suffered a fatal heart attack, police said, while brushing snow off his car.

The latest reported victims were:

Raymond M. Plein, 54, Milwaukee; Mrs. John Hilger, 74, Milwaukee; Mrs. Clementine Truszynski, 73, South Milwaukee; and Arthur J. Follet, 58, Brookfield.

Office of Economic Opportunity to the new department.

Senators, including some Southerners, generally expressed approval of Weaver's appointment. And two Negro leaders promptly applauded Johnson's announcement.

Wire Congratulations

"Congratulations and deep thanks for your history-making appointment," wired Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Whitney Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, said of the appointment: "It will become a model to inspire and motivate the Negro youth in today's society."

Early Senate approval of the two nominees seemed likely. Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., said the Senate Banking Committee which he heads will hold confirmation hearings Monday. He described Weaver as an able man. He said "I don't anticipate any trouble."

out of the room. Then he reached for the knob and jerked open the door.

"They moved in fast and saw us," Cork said later. "Bailey raised his gun and pointed it at us. In my opinion, they were prepared to shoot us. We shot first."

Five Shots

It was all over in two shotgun blasts and three pistol shots.

Bailey's wallet contained a hundred-dollar bill and a cryptic note that may have indicated the high stakes the two gunmen were aiming for. On a fragment of blue paper were written the calculations: 200,000 times 10 equals 2,000,000 and 20 times 400,000 equals 8,000,000.

Police theorized that Bailey and Scalla may have been aiming for ransom in the millions.

Also in Bailey's wallet was a slip of paper on which was written Firestone's telephone number. In the car were another pair of gloves, a rope, blanket, another mask, a 7mm rifle and ammunition. Bailey and Scalla were both from the nearby San Fernando Valley.

The case did not necessarily end with the deaths of the two men. Hankins said police were still investigating the possibility that others were involved in the kidnap attempt.

Lived Alone

Firestone, a personable man who has been active in civic affairs since moving here in 1943, lived alone in the modern, white-stucco house. His wife Polly died a year ago, and his three children live elsewhere: Kimball in Akron, Ohio, and Brooks in Pebble Beach, Calif., and a daughter, Mrs. Samuel C. Register, in Paris, Ky.

Firestone was one of five sons born to the pioneer of the rubber industry. Other sons were Harvey S. Firestone Jr., chairman of the board of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. of Akron, Ohio; Raymond, president of the corporation; Roger, president of Firestone Plastics Co. and Firestone Synthetic Fibers Co. of Pottstown, Pa.; and Russell, who died in 1951.

Leonard Firestone heads the California subsidiary of the corporation. He has been a board director of Santa Anita race track, an owner of the Los Angeles Rams pro football team, chairman of the board of trustees of the University of Southern California, and member of the Beverly Hills City Council.

injuring one passenger, and an unidentified assailant shot and wounded the Tam Ky district pacification chief.

Jeep Ambushed

The guerrillas also ambushed a U.S. jeep on main Highway 1 six miles south of Da Nang Thursday night, inflicting casualties among U.S. and Australian advisers in the vehicle. The guerrillas fled before a Marine patrol arrived.

South Vietnamese forces turned the trick on a Viet Cong unit 7 miles south of Quang Tri City, in the country's northernmost province, and killed 14 Viet Cong in an ambush Thursday night. The government side took light casualties, a spokesman reported.

Three large Vietnamese army convoys successfully ran the dangerous Qui Nhon-Pleiku highway through the central highlands without encountering any guerrillas. It was the first such success since the U.S. 1st Cavalry Airmobile Division joined the South Vietnamese last August in trying to open up strategic Route 19.

Flying Horsemen

Elements of the helicopter-equipped Flying Horsemen found a deserted Viet Cong village 25 miles northwest of Kontum in mountains. They uncovered stores of ammunition, uniforms and radio equipment.

Operation Crump, the 8,000-man U.S.-Australian mopup on the edge of the Communist Iron Triangle stronghold 25 miles northwest of Saigon, slowed down. For the first time since they set out last Saturday, the Allies reported no enemy casualties.

Viet Cong mortars harassed a government junk force near Ba Tri, 42 miles southwest of Saigon, but flare-lighted artillery strikes chased the guerrillas off. One junk was blown out of the water by a mine. Casualties were reported light.

Little Fighting

With the fighting continuing in a low key, U.S. officials in Washington were keeping a careful watch for evidence that the Communists were deliberately scaling down their military operations. But sources in Washington said the North Vietnamese are using the suspension of U.S. bombing attacks on North Viet Nam to rebuild railroad lines and bridges between the Hanoi and Red China which U.S. bombers had destroyed.

The bombing lull began its third week today. Secretary of State Rusk flew from New Delhi to Bangkok to meet Harriman, who has carried similar stopover last February.

Some of his colleagues were invited to pinch-hit.

With a big question mark placed at Humphrey's head table seat, they spoke on the topic: "Whatever happened to Hubert Humphrey?"

Schlitz Has Sales Increase During 1965

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Jos Schlitz Brewing Co., reported today a four per cent sales increase during 1965 with sales of all brands totaling 8,607,104 barrels.

The volume represented a fourth consecutive record year for the firm, exceeding by 349,627 barrels the mark set in 1964.

Company President Robert A. Uihlein Jr., called it "a solid increase."

"We look for continued favorable company growth in the years ahead," said Uihlein. "The Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. is effectively geared to capitalize on all opportunities in the brewing industry and to take advantage of promising investment areas in other fields as well. The outlook for the brewing industry remains good for the rest of this decade and into the 70s."

Schlitz, second ranking American brewing firm, will add about 1.2 million barrels to its production capacity in 1966 with new plants in Longview, Tex., and Honolulu, Hawaii.

Schlitz produces Schlitz, Old Milwaukee, Burgermeister and Primo beers and Schlitz malt liquor but reports its sales corporately rather than by individual brands.

ried President Johnson's peace message to half a dozen foreign capitals. Rusk and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey met with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin Thursday and Viet Nam presumably dominated the conversation. All were in the Indian capital for the funeral of the Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri.

No Speculation

A U.S. Embassy spokesman in Saigon said Rusk and Harriman would fly to Saigon for talks with South Vietnamese leaders. He declined to speculate on the purpose of the trip but indicated it was connected with the Viet Nam policy outlined by the President in his State of the Union message Wednesday night. Johnson pledged to continue the defense of South Viet Nam but stated anew his willingness to discuss peace.

Alexander N. Shelepin, the Soviet Communist party's No. 2 man, headed home from his week-long "friendship" visit to North Viet Nam after a 24-hour stopover in Peking. Tass, the official Soviet news agency, did not report any meetings between Shelepin and top Chinese officials, although Shelepin is the highest-ranking Soviet to visit Peking since Kosygin's last February.

Make a Bean Rattle to Use As a Rhythm Instrument

BY CAPPY DICK

When you are looking for a rhythm instrument to use in keeping time with radio or record music, yet isn't too noisy, try a bean rattle. Make it yourself!

Shown in Figure 3. A cover for the other end is made the same way, but before you close that end, pour a handful of dried beans, rice or small pebbles into the tube. Then close it.

When the glue has dried you will discover how to make the rattle work. Just shake it (Figure 5) and the beans, rice or pebbles will clatter around inside.

However the device is not completed until you have decorated it. A scrap of wallpaper or some brightly colored wrapping paper may be prepared as in Figure 4. Glue it around the tube, completing the project Saturday. How to make a set of racing paper dolls!

Consumer Confident In '66 Prosperity

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—A University of Michigan survey says the American consumer is confident 1966 will be a prosperous year and he contemplates major expenditures including a new car.

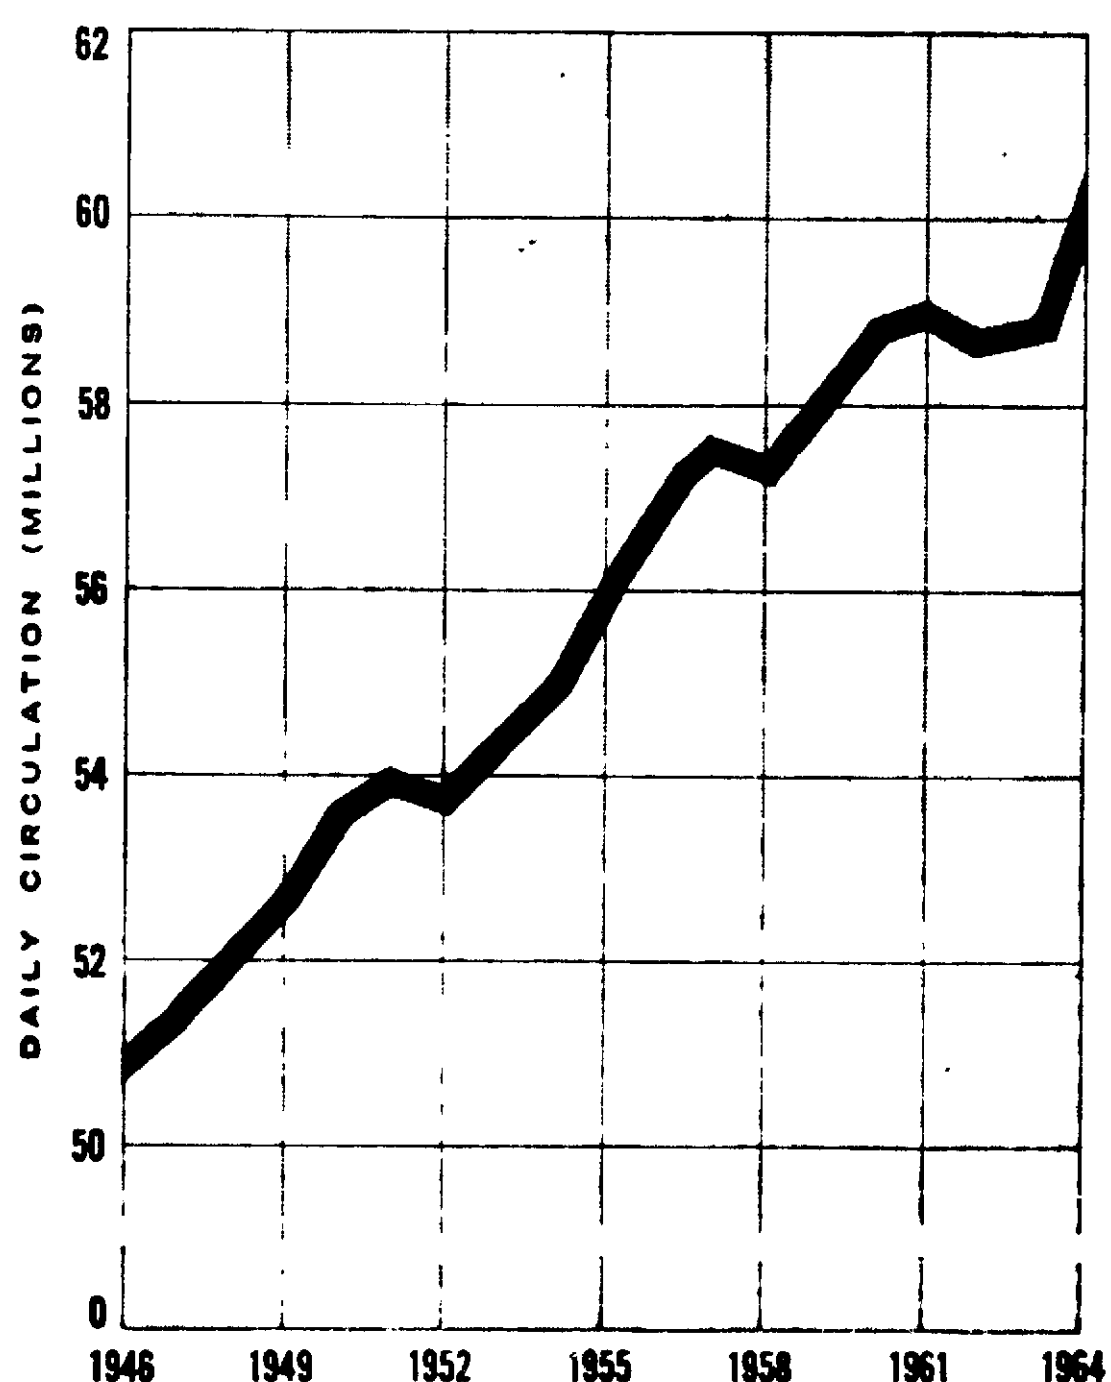

The university's Institute for Social Research says that the proportion of families planning to buy new cars is higher than last year.

60,000,000 TIMES A DAY

The American people buy this many daily newspapers every day. Newspaper circulation has been climbing steadily ever since the appearance of America's first daily more than 180 years ago...and it's still growing. Last year daily newspaper circulation reached a record 60,412,266—an increase of more than 1,500,000 over 1963—the greatest single increase in almost 20 years!

More people are buying newspapers today because newspapers have more to offer. Statistically, they carry more news in greater depth as well as more advertising than ever before.

There is hardly an American home that doesn't receive at least one daily newspaper regularly. People depend on their newspapers. Could you get along without yours?

Association Publicizes Birth Control 'Nobody Talks About'

BY KATHIE DIBELL

NEW YORK (AP) — Doctors avoid it. Welfare workers rarely advise it and men are afraid of it, but 100,000 persons voluntarily undergo sterilization operations each year in the United States.

"Though they welcome the procedure, it is not something people like to talk about," said Hugh Moore, president of the Association for Voluntary Sterilization, a group formed to promote sterilization as a means of birth control.

Sterilization has some distinguished backers.

"Until we get an absolutely foolproof birth control device, there is a place for sterilization in families which are completely certain they have filled their family size," said Dr. Alan Guttmacher, president of Planned Parenthood-World Population.

The AVS has launched a $200,000 yearly program to promote and propagandize the benefits and facts of sterilization. One of its main targets is the medical profession itself.

Many doctors believe they might be subject to malpractice suits or criminal prosecution, Moore said, even though the American Medical Association said in 1961 that physicians ran no greater legal risk with sterilization than with any other operation.

"Voluntary sterilization is legal in all 50 states," said Harriet F. Pipel, AVS's legal counsel, at a recent conference on having. This can lead to their requesting information.

The association wants the sterilization to cases of medical necessity.

Man's Operation Simple

Couple with the fear of legal action is the ignorance of many doctors on how to actually perform the simple sterilization operation on the male.

The operation, a vasectomy, is

Information Restricted

Welfare agencies in many states are handicapped by administrative or state regulations which forbid welfare workers to give out birth control information unless the client requests it.

There are ways to get around this, of course, one welfare worker said. "You ask questions like 'Just how many more children are you planning to have?' This can lead to their requesting information."

The association wants the sterilization to cases of medical necessity.

include sterilization in their list of alternatives to children. Few do now.

"Sterilization is the Rolls Royce of the birth control methods," said R. Eugene Brown, commissioner of the North Carolina Board of Public Welfare. "It's not available to everyone."

Expense Involved

A sterilization operation costs about $200 for a woman and $75 for a man.

The Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) expressly forbids the use of federal funds for sterilization, although funds will be used for other methods of birth control.

The association protested to Sargent Shriver, OEO chairman, contending the ruling was an "arbitrary and unjustifiable discrimination against one of the legitimate, medically approved and widely used contraceptive methods."

Louis M. Groh, director of the Wyoming Department of Public Welfare, said many welfare recipients "have been denied opportunity to obtain birth control devices. Sterilization is part of a large spectrum of these devices and public welfare recipients should have a choice."

Easier for Men

The AVS emphasizes that the male should undergo the operation rather than the female because it is simpler for him. "The thing we have to sell to men is that it is not castration — the old bugaboo," Moore said.

No organs are removed in the operation and Moore said studies show that couples actually derive greater satisfaction from marital relations because there is no fear of pregnancy.

"The so-called irreversibility also prevents many men from undergoing sterilization," Moore said.

Can Be Reversed

However, fertility can be restored in at least half of the 16 requires 4 1/2 inches of fabric.

FIFTY CENTS in coins for each pattern — add 15 cents for mailing and special handling.

Moore, who claims he coined the expression "population explosion" in a pamphlet published 10 years ago, says "the statistics are utterly frightening and as to what will happen unless control is found."

"Sterilization is one of the methods of birth control and it shapes for sun, fun, dancing, is a permanent method. It is dining, everyday! One free vital where the pill or other pattern — clip coupon in contraceptive measures are impractical."

Team Trials in San Francisco last November. In each case dummy's ace of clubs won the first trick.

It should have been clear that if the trumps broke 4-1, West would have the singleton. West probably had eight cards in clubs and hearts combined, and East only five cards in those two suits. There was more room for spades in the East than in the West hand.

One declarer failed by leading dummy's low trump to the king. He continued with the ace and ten of trumps, driving out East's queen.

Returns Diamond

East returned a diamond to dummy's ace, and West led another diamond when he got in with the queen of clubs. This forced South to ruff, and he had to use up his last trump to draw East's eight. South ran the clubs, but West took the last two tricks with the ace of hearts and a diamond. Down one.

The other two experts, Ivan Erdos and Edgar Kaplan, guarded against the bad trump break by leading dummy's ace of trumps first. Dummy's ten came next, covered by the queen and king. South drew one more trump with the nine and then knocked out the queen of clubs.

West could not make declarer ruff because the ace of diamonds was still in the dummy. South could run the clubs and lead a heart to make sure of a trick with dummy's king, thus fulfilling the contract.

Daily Question

Dealer, at your left, bids one spade. Partner doubles, and the next player passes. You hold: S K 9 5 3 2, H 10 4, D J, C J 9 6 4 2. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs. Do not pass the double for penalties merely because you have length in spades. You can afford to pass only when your trumps are solid enough to draw trumps as though you were declarer.

'Best Dressed' Named to Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — Does an elegant sense of fashion run in a list committee noted. Their mother, the former Mrs. Henry Ford II, is in the Fashion Hall of Fame.

Mrs. Carter Burden at 22 tops the 1965 list of the best-dressed women in the world, announced Thursday. She is the wife of a Columbia University law student from a socially prominent family, but more importantly, from a fashion viewpoint, she is the daughter of Mrs. William Paley, a member of the Fashion Hall of Fame.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy, who usually heads the best-dressed list, was elevated to the Fashion Hall of Fame.

The former First Lady's younger sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, often on the list, lost out Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, mother of the late President Kennedy, repeated from last year.

The Ford sisters — Anne and Charlotte — who recently became Mrs. Giancarlo Uzielli and Mrs. Stavros Niarchos, again were cited as one entry. "Their taste is identical, representing the best of the young international way of dressing," the list is Mrs. Angus Ogilvy, the Princess Alexandra of Kent, daughter of the Duchess of Kent, also in the Fashion Hall of Fame.

Among the royal members on, Then there are the Vanderbilt, Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt of New York placed second, and the former Gloria Vanderbilt, now wife of New York television director Wyatt Cooper, came in third.

The best-dressed list — compiled by a fashion committee from perhaps 2,500 votes cast by style experts around the world — goes in this order: Mrs. Burden; Mrs. Vanderbilt; Mrs. Cooper; the Ford sisters; Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy; Mrs. Kirk Douglas, wife of the actor; Mrs. Ogilvy; actress Barbra Streisand; Mrs. Charles Engelhard, wife of the mining magnate; Mrs. William McCormick Blair, wife of the American ambassador to the Philippines; Princess Luciana Pignatelli of Rome; and Princess Paola, wife of the Belgian crown prince.

To make way for newcomers, perennials on the list are frequently named to the Fashion Hall of Fame Besides Mrs. Kennedy, five other list regulars were elevated for 1965: Mrs. Charles Wrightsman, of New York and Palm Beach, Fla.; Queen Sirikit of Thailand; Dame Margot Fonteyn, British ballet star; actress Dina Merrill; and Mrs. Gilbert Miller, wife of the theatrical producer.

The state bowling tournament will be held in Waukesha. The Feb. 8 meeting will be composed of a 6:15 p.m. potluck supper and a film about Rawhide Inc.

Mrs. Hollis Pilgreen, Mrs. Archie Richmond and Mrs. Joseph Hebel were initiated as new members.

VFW District Leads State in Membership

The Auxiliary convened Tuesday evening at the VFW clubhouse. It was announced that the National president, Mrs. Sophia Goldstein, Chicago, Ill., will visit Wisconsin in April. Wausau will be the host city. The Appleton Junior Girls Unit will prepare nut cups for the occasion.

Mrs. Harry Rassmussen and Mrs. Fred Peske are co-chairmen of the past presidents' pillow case card party at 2 p.m. Heart Catholic Church, Appleton, and 7 p.m. Feb. 15 at the VFW clubhouse. The public has been invited to attend. Proceeds will be sent to the cancer fund.

Tells Schedule

The Naim Conference will meet at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Village Lanes, Little Chute, for a bowling party.

A card party is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 23 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Appleton. The Spiritual and Visiting Committee will have charge of refreshments.

Never Oil Stiff Lock On Door

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: The snap lock on our side door has steadily become stiffer, so much so that I'm afraid of snapping off the key. A neighbor told me I should not put any oil in the keyhole. Is this right? If so, how can I make the lock work easily again?

A: Your friend is 100 per cent right. While oil might free up the sticky working parts for a while, it would then begin to collect so much dust and dirt that the lock would become stiffer than ever. Instead of oil, use a "dry" lubricant, such as powdered graphite. These lubricants never become sticky. All hardware stores carry them.

Q: Is there any reasonably good home method of repairing a tear in a leather chair?

A: First trim the edges of the tear so there is no fuzz, using a razor blade. Then cut a patch of soft leather or similar strong material, both wider and longer than the tear. Coat it with household cement or other cement for making leather. Work this through the tear, (you'll find a pair of tweezers helpful.) When positioned, press the edges of the tear against the cemented patch and push together to close the gap. Weight to maintain pressure until the cement sets.

Babysitting for Stepsister Causes Unpleasant Problems

BY DR. EVE JONES

DEAR DR. JONES: I often babysit for my six-year-old stepsister and have her over here to stay the day with me and my two children, two and three years old. She sometimes hurts my children and generally behaves badly.

I'd like to know how to make her behave so she doesn't treat my children badly. My stepmother takes the attitude that children are children, so she doesn't teach my stepsister not to hit or be sassy. MRS. H.R.

You set the standards for acceptable behavior in your home — not your stepmother. And you have an obligation to protect your children from bullying, especially in their own home. Tell your stepsister she may not hit, and separate her from your children when she can't play with them pleasantly.
